Bowling Bettors 'Tapped'

MONTREAL (CP)—More than 70 men were arrested today in a mid-town bowling alley in what police believe is the first case of its kind in this city.

The men, to be charged with being found in a gaming house, are reported to have bought tickets in a pool based on the efforts of four bowlers.

Four vans were used to transport them to police headquarters.

In line with a new get-tough policy, the suspects were held without bail pending arraignment Friday. They were to be photographed and fingerprinted.

Youths Admit Killing Girl, 4

DETROIT (AP)—A four-year-old girl was found slain Wednesday night in the bedroom of her west side home. She had been stabbed at least seven times, police said.

Police said a 17-year-old cousin of the girl, Frank Ramirez, and his 16-year-old stepbrother were held for questioning.

The youths were arrested shortly after the victim, Naomi Bosch, was found by her mother.

Police said a first-degree murder warrant would be sought against Ramirez.

Inspector George Bloomfield said the youths admitted the slaying and plans to kill four other occupants of the Bosch home in what he described as a fantastic burglary plot.

U.S. Gov't Seeks To Use Wire-Taps

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Attorney General Robert Kennedy asked congress today to legalize wiretapping by federal and state police authorities as a weapon against organized crime and subversive activities.

He said present law, which bars wiretap evidence in any federal court and curbs its use in state courts, is "chaotic." It hampers law enforcement and fails to protect the right of privacy, Kennedy added.

Italy Lays Spy Charge Against Red Jet Pilot

MISS CAN'T KISS, SAYS CHAPERONE

VANCOUVER (CP)—"No, there will be no kisses," snapped a chaperon as Miss America and a debonair alderman swayed toward each other.

Alderman Frank Baker had offered to lightly buss Maria Beale Fletcher of Asheville, N.C., on the cheek after she stepped off a plane.

After chaperon Angela Petesch snapped her rejection of the idea, Mr. Baker and Miss America swayed for an embarrassed couple of seconds, then laughed and shook hands.

"Really disappointing," said the gay alderman later. "But I have been refused by pretty girls before."

"It was slightly embarrassing," said Maria, a hazel-eyed brunette.

"Kissing strangers is not becoming for our Miss America," said grey-haired Miss Petesch. "It's downright undignified."

Action Follows Study of Film

(Times News Services)

BARI, Italy—Italian police tonight formally charged a young Bulgarian pilot with spying and said he would stand trial for espionage.

Bari district attorney Carlo Giansanto formally notified the pilot, 22-year-old 2nd Lt. Milius Solakov, that he had ordered him arrested and filed the charges against him.

Solakov is recovering in the Bari jail infirmary from the injuries he suffered when his MiG 17 jet fighter crashed Jan. 20 only 600 yards from a secret NATO missile base south of this Italian town.

Solakov tried to give the impression that he was a defector but his government contended he landed in Italy after becoming lost in bad weather while on a training flight over Bulgaria.

The investigating judge acted soon after Italian police turned over to him their full findings in the case, presumably including results of a study of film taken from the Bulgarian plane's cameras.

MOLOTOV

Former Top Red In Hospital

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Vyacheslav Molotov, 71-year-old former foreign minister who is in disgrace with the Soviet Communist party, has been in hospital for 10 days with a heart ailment, a reliable source said today.

The source said Molotov was in the Kremlin hospital opposite the old bolshevik's apartment in a government-owned building in the centre of the city.

There was no immediate confirmation of the report from official Soviet sources.

When questioned about Molotov's reported illness, an official of the Soviet press department replied: "We cannot keep track of everybody who goes to the hospital. If a person is ill it is his own business. It is of no importance to us."

STANDARD REPLY
He gave the standard reply when asked if Molotov was likely to return to his old position as Soviet representative to the International Atomic Energy Agency in Vienna: "We have no information about that."

Recent rumors in Moscow had said Molotov was among the thousands of Russians laid low by the flu epidemic that struck such notables as Premier Khrushchev.

French troops attacked an insurgent headquarters in Oran with mortars and bazookas, the source said, and after four hours of fighting, six bodies and a number of documents were found in the ruins.

Meantime, an unknown assailant cut the throat of an Algerian in a Moslem housing district at the Algiers suburb of El Biar.

Six Moslems Killed On 'Day of Murder'

ORAN (Reuters)—Six Moslem insurgents were reported killed in a four-hour battle with French troops today at the outset of the most critical month in President Charles de Gaulle's long efforts to bring peace to Algeria.

Official sources said insurgent leaders have been planning a day of murder today in Oran, a hotbed of European extremist and rebel activity.

"When parents don't back up the teachers there will be trouble."

He said the incident occurred during lunch hour Wednesday. The three students were isolated from each other and other students. One was strapped because he refused to eat lunch alone.

Forty-one of the 150 students did not return to school in the afternoon. One, who asked that his name not be used, said the students objected to the fact that the 17-year-

BERLIN (UPI)—East Germany today charged the west with building a tunnel under their anti-refugee wall from West to East Berlin.

Communist officials took newsmen to the Wollankstrasse railway station on the border of the French sector and showed them burrows alleged to be part of a "spy tunnel system."

in protest to the French and the West Berlin city government, East Germany demanded punishment of the West Berlin "bandits" responsible for the tunnel.

Communist Deputy Foreign Minister Otto Winzer made a sharp protest to French commandant Gen. Jean Lacomme. His note said the tunnel was an "injury to the territorial integrity of the German democratic republic and against the search for a solution of international incidents."

The secret passages the communists displayed today had no connection with a 90-foot tunnel through which 28 East Germans escaped to West Berlin last week. Its location was several miles from Wollankstrasse.

The communists said the tunnel was built to smuggle spies into the eastern zone. Observers said, however, if such a tunnel was built it was apparently intended to help East Germans flee to the west.

The West Berlin city government declined to comment on the communist charge. But a city statement said West Berliners—"under the most difficult circumstances"—were trying to help eastern residents escape.

It was not possible to determine the validity of the communist charge. Newsmen saw holes dug out of walls in what appeared to be an unused passage in the station at ground level.

They saw holes also dug into the ground in the passage and a section of collapsed station platform. Railway officials told newsmen it was an amateur job.

But it could not be determined whether a tunnel actually existed or, if it did exist, where it led.

YOUTH HELD FOR MURDER OF FATHER

HOPE (CP)—Gerald Roy Emery, 18, was charged with capital murder today for the axe-slaying of his father.

Police said they believe the slaying of Francis George Emery, 51, followed a family argument in the home of Chief Peter Emery, father of the victim, Wednesday night.

Emery was arrested with in minutes after police arrived on the scene.

Mr. Ho Lem's Carousel Cleaners Limited has been charged with violating the Lord's Day Act in the latest round of a controversy over Sunday operations.

"If it is illegal for Calgarians to use coin-operated cleaning machines on Sunday, it is equally illegal to use pay telephones," he said today.

"We would like the issue to die a quiet death, but if we are prosecuted the natural reaction would be to charge other Sunday operators of juke boxes and other vending machines including cigarette machines and stamp machines."

Anti-Salazar Rioters Crushed

OPORTO (AP)—Police used fire hoses and fired into the air to break up an anti-government demonstration in this Portuguese city Wednesday night.

Between 48 and 20 persons were reported injured, none seriously. Authorities blamed the demonstration on Communist agents and said arrests were made.

The demonstrators apparently massed in response to pamphlets distributed during the last several days by opponents of Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar. The demonstration coincided with the anniversary of the 1890 republican revolution in Oporto, Portugal's second city and the home of port wines.

Russian Troops Reported in Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (Reuters)—The right-wing government of Laos said here Wednesday night it had received reports that two companies of Russian troops were in the kingdom, just south of the border with Communist China.

A government communique said the Russians were reported 25 miles east of Muong Sing, a town in the extreme northeast of Laos.

Diplomatic and military sources here said they had no knowledge of the presence of Russian troops but that Russian technicians were believed to be with left-wing Laotian forces further south on the Plain of Jars.

Centennial Flashback...

THIS DAY IN VICTORIA - 1862

FEBRUARY 1

Much to the relief of a somewhat embarrassed Royal Navy, the gunboat Forward was floated off the mudbank on which she was stuck backward. A high tide did the trick.

The two Indians found sleeping amid empty champagne bottles pleaded guilty to theft of spirits and were sentenced to three months each on the chain gang. The arresting officer accepted a $50 reward from the proprietors of the burgled liquor store.

Volunteer firemen were awakened by the ringing of the alarm bell at 1 a.m. and laboriously hauled their engines and truck through the deep snow to Store Street, where it was learned the alarm was false. By this time the whole town was awake, and the firemen had help hauling their equipment back.

The false alarm was rung by Special Officer Levy, who saw a bright light. The origin of the light has not been established.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa—An unemployed waitress who described herself as "just a little cog instead of a big wheel" today sought nomination as governor of Iowa.

Mrs. Betty B. Dykhuizen, 40, told the secretary of state's office that "this is no gag" and insisted: "Send me nomination papers for governor of the corn-hog state of Iowa."

Secretary of State Melvin Synhorst said the papers would be sent.

Mrs. Dykhuizen, a divorcee, said she considered herself an independent but would campaign on the Democratic ticket.

"Nothing is being done for the little people," Mrs. Dykhuizen said. "I think all those big wheels need a little cog to help them out."

Asked for her qualifications to be governor, she said she felt she could do "as good a job as that fellow we have now," a reference to Republican Gov. Norman A. Erbe, who is seeking re-election.

LONDON—A British newspaper today blisters Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery for mixing in politics and told him bluntly: "Belt up, Monty!"

That is an English colloquialism, a variation of "shut up."

What nettled the tabloid was something the old warrior said in South Africa this week. It was this:

"If the black people north of this country unite, find a leader and threaten the whites of South Africa, then I shall draw my sword and come and help you myself."

The Mirror in an editorial calls the statement "idiotic and advised" the retired wartime military leader to stay retired and leave politics to politicians.

"This garrulous old age pensioner," says The Mirror, "is still meddling in international affairs, still saying the wrong thing in the wrong place at the wrong time."

"It is said that old soldiers never die. Why won't this one just belt up?"

KITCHENER— "Really clever American youths go into business and become vice-presidents or corporation lawyers," Prof. C. Northcote Parkinson said Wednesday night.

"Stupid ones go into the civil service. The real idiots go into the army and they all become generals. The best example of that occurred not long ago when one became president."

DETROIT—Herman Wallenda and his son Gunter performed Wednesday night on the same high wire from which two aerialists of the Great Wallendas' troupe fell to their death Tuesday night.

The 60-year-old Herman and his 34-year-old son teamed up with aerialist Jean Mendez, who was flown in Wednesday to fill the Shrine Circus gap left by the tragedy that befell the Wallendas.

Gunter rode a bike across the wire and teamed up with Mendez to carry Herman standing on a cross bar between them. In the finale, Herman stood on his head on the bar.

A crowd of approximately 5,000 gave the trio a howling ovation.

HERMAN WALLENDAs board, obviously not in tune with those TV commercials, has ruled that something is missing from instant coffee.

The ruling has been handed down in a test case brought by Canadian-Nescafe Company which sought to increase the tariff rate on imported instant coffee to 22½ per cent from seven.

The board went into detail on how instant coffee is made and commented:

"It therefore appears that instant coffee is '100 per cent pure coffee' only in the sense that it contains nothing that does not come from the roasted and ground coffee bean."

"It is not '100 per cent pure coffee' in the sense that it contains everything that was in the roasted and ground coffee bean."

This meant that instant coffee was not liable to the 22½-per-cent duty.

It comes under the category "extracts of coffee" which calls for a seven-per-cent tariff.

UN Opens Talks On Kashmir Issue

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The United Nations Security Council was called into session today to hear Pakistan's charges of assault threats by India over Kashmir.

Pakistani Ambassador Sir Muhammad Zafrulla Khan, in asking for the meeting, said Indian army movements and Indian threats regarding disputed Kashmir "have created a very grave situation."

The two Commonwealth countries have clashed periodically at the UN since 1948 over Kashmir, divided between them on the basis of a cease-fire line established in 1949.

Zafrulla Khan denied at a press conference that Pakistan launched its move now to embarrass the Indian government in general elections later this month.

'PLAYING POLITICS'
MP CHARGES LESAGE

BY JACK BEST

OTTAWA (CP)—Premier Jean Lesage of Quebec was accused by a Conservative member of the Commons Wednesday of playing politics by his negative response to the idea of an Ottawa-sponsored national power grid.

"This response, I suggest, is a political one and is not the response of sensible people in that province," said Hugh M. Horner, member for the Alberta constituency of Jasper-Edson.

He was referring to the premier's reply to a letter from Prime Minister Diefenbaker, suggesting a Dominion-provincial conference to consider "fundamental problems" bearing on the transmission of hydro power in Canada.

PETERS
...not response of sensible people

Hydro, replied Mr. Lesage, "is a field of provincial jurisdiction and I consider that is where we must let the matter rest."

Debate was on a motion by Arnold Peters (CCF—Timiskaming), asking government consideration of the advisability of setting up a national grid, initiating research and calling a federal-provincial conference.

Mr. Peters said he had filed his motion before the Jan. 18 opening of Parliament. In the Speech from the Throne—the government referred to "steps that might be taken" toward long-distance power transmission.

The CCF's private motion was talked out, and will not likely come up again this session.

U.S. MISSILE DEFENCE FORCE HIT

'Bugs' Show in Atlas

WASHINGTON (AP)—The rocket troubles which caused postponement of astronaut John Glenn's shot into orbit may curtail the readiness of the United States intercontinental ballistic missile force, the Washington Post says.

The Post says it learned from Pentagon sources that "bugs" identical to those encountered at Cape Canaveral have shown up in 5,000-mile Atlas D missiles now on United States launching pads.

While a satisfactory solution has been found, The Post says, defence officials decided not to dismantle the rockets for factory modification.

Four-fifths of the country's operation ICBMs are involved, The Post says, and defence officials have been reluctant to take that many missiles off the launching pads. Instead, the necessary change has been made when the Atlases must be removed from their pads for other reasons.

But the trouble encountered in the astronaut and Ranger 3 moon shot has led the defence force to reconsider this action.

tanks of the radio-guided missiles, but Atlas experts have said they can maintain satisfactory reliability for defence by daily inspections and extra precautions against over-pressurizing fuel tanks. The Post says.

The trouble results from vaporized kerosene which becomes trapped in an insulated double bulkhead separating the fuel and liquid oxygen compartment, The Post says. When cooked the kerosene turns back to liquid and can flood into the Atlas electrical system, causing short circuits.

Have Bomarcs ... But No Boom

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF takes the Bomarc anti-aircraft missile base at North Bay, Ont., over from the contractor today.

The contractor, Boeing Airplane Company of Seattle, Wash., has installed missiles on the 28 launching pads.

Villages Isolated By Snow

LONDON (Reuters)—Blizzards swept Scandinavia and many other parts of western Europe today.

Several inches of snow covered Paris and many other areas of France.

In Sweden snow piled up as high as 30 feet.

Some 250 Italian villages were reported cut off by snowdrifts in central and southern Italy.

In The Hague the first snow of the year slowed the morning commuter rush to a standstill.

In Denmark heavy snow blocked road and rail travel and ice short-circuited some power lines.

The general weather picture in Britain was partly cloudy with higher than seasonal temperatures.

Meantime, the 2,095-ton Finnish steamer Finlandia reported finding two bodies and an empty lifeboat from the 490-ton West German trawler Berta Kienas off the coast of The Netherlands. The trawler's position was not known.

It is expected that the base will be at full operational readiness about March 1.

However, the missiles have no warheads—nuclear or conventional.

One defence department official said it is doubtful that a Bomarc without a warhead could knock down a bomber even by colliding with it.

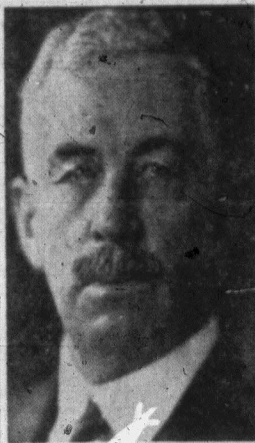

Egan Chambers, parliamentary secretary to Defence Minister Harkness, said in the Commons Monday no conventional warhead for the Bomarc exists and no arrangements have been made with the United States for a supply of nuclear warheads.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker has said Canada does not want to take any action which might impair chances of an East-West disarmament agreement or of restricting membership in the nuclear club to the present nuclear powers.

The 18-nation disarmament committee, of which Canada is a member, is scheduled to begin talks at Geneva March 14.

Missiles and launching equipment still have to be installed at the second Canadian Bomarc site at La Macaza, Que. This is expected to be done this spring.

Officials here said no official ceremony was planned in connection with the RCAF taking over the North Bay Bomarc base.

Senator Opposes Pension Increase

OTTAWA (CP)—Liberal Senator Thomas Crerar said Wednesday he is opposed to the federal government's proposal to increase the basic old age pension to $65 a month from $55.

The Manitoba senator also said in the Senate Throne Speech debate that he would be opposed to any Liberal government boosting the pension to $75 a month unless it is based on the contributory principle.

The wartime cabinet minister said increased expenditures on old age pensions are not warranted because of the serious state of the federal government's finances.

JFK Ready to Visit Soviet If Major Thaw Develops

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Kennedy says he would be prepared to accept an invitation to visit Russia if some major thaw develops in the East-West cold war.

His latest view, made at a press conference Wednesday in the presence of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's son-in-law, heightened speculation that some significant change in tense Soviet-American relations may be in the process of negotiation.

Kennedy also said the United States and Russia are nearing agreement on how the remnants of the Laotian crisis should be resolved. And Soviet Izvestia editor Alexei Adzhubei, Khrushchev's son-in-law, supported this view later when he told reporters he expected a final agreement on Laos "very soon."

The president said no significant progress has been made on the Berlin issue, but he hoped a third round of Moscow talks opening today "will bring a happy result."

U.S. NATIONAL DEBT HITS $298 BILLION

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States national debt has risen above $298,000,000,000 for the first time. The treasury said Wednesday that the debt, as of last Friday, amounted to $298,049,359,273. The temporary debt limit of $298,000,000,000 was not violated, however, because some $438,000,000 of the debt is not subject to the ceiling.

Much Better Prospects

FOR THE FIRST TIME SINCE it became involved in the diplomatic and military quicksands of the Congo, the United Nations is being accorded a fair chance of emerging successfully.

It is a vital matter for the world parliament. Failure to maintain peace in the hard-pressed African state, and to establish a stable government and properly functioning economy, would deal a tremendous blow to United Nations prestige. Success, on the other hand, would constitute a timely and badly-needed lift for the U.N. organization, now under attack by the Communist bloc, shaken by the influx of new Afro-Asian member nations, and suffering from financial starvation.

In particular, successful completion of the new U.N. role inaugurated by the late Mr. Dag Hammarskjöld—the role of armed peace-maker which is a long step beyond the passive policing missions heretofore undertaken—could launch the U.N. on a new and vital career in international affairs.

Two factors contribute to the increased optimism of Congo-observers. Neither is wholly reliable; both could change for the worse without notice. But the reality of the improving situation cannot be denied; Congolese unity and peace are now reasonable hopes in contrast to their former will-o-the-wisp nature.

The first factor is the new attitude of Mr. Moïse Tshombe, the secessionist leader of Katanga province. Although he is known for his quick changes of position, even after agreement has been reached, he is now on record as recognizing "the authority of the central government over all parts of the republic."

He later claimed that he signed the agreement under pressure, but the Katanga Assembly has accepted the main points negotiated. And the savage fighting has been stopped on what is hoped to be a permanent basis.

A lesser problem—but with important overtones—also seems close to settlement. Mr. Antoine Gizenga, the leftist leader of a would-be secessionist group in Stanleyville, and until recently vice-premier, has at last been deprived of power and appears ready to come to terms—and not particularly favorable terms for himself—with Premier Adoula.

The failure of Mr. Gizenga to control events—he was unable to make his claim to the premiership stick at the time of Premier Lumumba's death, and had become increasingly silent in virtual exile—has left Russia without a likely horse in the Congo steppes. While Mr. Gizenga remained a threat to the Leopoldville government, Russia remained a potential master of the Congo. But Mr. Gizenga's ineptness and virtual collapse—he is now under arrest—have left the Soviet without effective native representation in the Congo. This situation was one of the prime objectives of United Nations intervention in the country under Western urging, for the chaotic conditions existing in the Congo's governmental and economic affairs a year and a half ago invited the Communists to move in and take over.

That likelihood so far has been avoided, both secession-dangers appear to have been safely interred, and conditions conducive to the long haul towards independent and capable statehood may already be present.

If this is so, the United Nations will be a major benefactor; the vision of Mr. Hammarskjöld will be vindicated and a precedent of great potential importance—the use of United Nations armed force (short of full-scale war as in Korea) to impose its dictum—will have been established.

The Line Is Drawn

THE UNITED STATES HAS won in its efforts to have Communist Cuba ousted from the Organization of American States. The 21-member organization has voted the necessary two-thirds majority to bring this about, but the composition of the voting group is indicative of the mixed feelings involved.

The 14 countries voting in the resolutions committee to force Cuba out of the OAS were mainly the small ones, the so-called "banana republics." There were no negative votes, but six countries abstained: Mexico, Brazil, the Argentine, Chile, Bolivia and Ecuador. These latter, in size and importance, far outweigh the supporters of the United States effort.

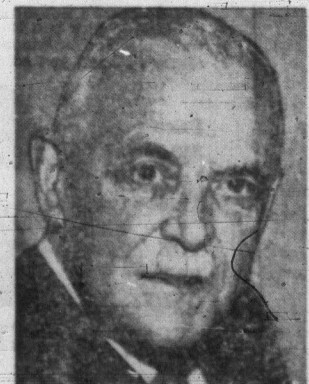

More acceptable to most OAS members had been a general motion of denunciation of Cuba's avowed Communist regime. But Washington felt this was not enough. The United States was determined to draw a clear line between what is permissible in the western hemisphere and what is not.

In so doing it may have weakened its case, for the nature of the roll-call in the resolutions committee is plain. At the same time it must not be overlooked that the eventual endorsement of the committee's report was unanimous, and that formal rejection by every member country in North and South America must be a very serious thing for Cuba.

Premier Castro may turn increasingly to the Communist bloc for financial and economic assistance—for which payment no doubt will be exacted. But he stands accused by the public opinion of the countries in his hemisphere, a combined moral force which inevitably must have its effect, if not on the leader at least on his people.

There may be criticism in some quarters of the United States' tactics and of its strategy, but there must also be recognition of the United States' problem—Communism has a governmental foothold in the Caribbean and will use Premier Castro's island not as a terminus but as a beach-head for further advances into Latin America. The formal stand at Punta del Este at least establishes the defence line.

LOUIS ST. LAURENT

Again He Put Aside His Personal Interests and Responded to the Call of Duty

THE ST. LAURENT family was at dinner in their spacious Quebec City home when a long-distance telephone call arrived. Mr. St. Laurent left his place at the head of the table reluctantly. Soon one of the daughters noticed that he added the word "sir" in answering the party at the other end of the line. "That can only be the prime minister," she commented. "Dad wouldn't 'sir' anyone else that often."

It was indeed Prime Minister Mackenzie King, and he was asking a man he scarcely knew to come to Ottawa to replace the late Ernest Lapointe, his principal lieutenant in Quebec, as minister of justice in the wartime cabinet.

Rarely if ever was a man more reluctant to enter public life, but Mr. King, ever a master politician—and a student of human nature, appealed to his sense of duty until he was unable to refuse.

Rather than being elated, he returned home sadly from the national capital to break the news to his disappointed family. He assured them that it was only a wartime job, and that in two or three years they would resume their intimate family life.

As the war struggle went on and Mr. St. Laurent became more and more valuable to him, Mackenzie King developed other plans. By standing firmly with the prime minister on the conscription issue and putting the facts squarely to the population of French Canada, the Quebec lawyer did perhaps more than any other person to ensure a united war effort.

As minister of justice he handled the disagreeable task of press censorship and suppression of subversive activities, (including many in Quebec) with both tact and firmness.

Speaking in 1946, Mr. King stated: "I shall always believe that it was the firm and statesmanlike stand taken in that hour of crisis by the minister of justice that ensured the continuance of the government and averted an appalling disaster. I am perfectly certain that had Mr. St. Laurent withdrawn his support

The article herewith is taken from a study by Mr. Dale C. Thomson of Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, who is 80 years of age today. Mr. Thomson, a former secretary to Mr. St. Laurent, now lectures at the University of Montreal. He is the author of "Alexander Mackenzie: Clear Grit," a biography of Canada's second prime minister.

With the United Nations well established, peace treaties with many nations signed, and Canada launched on its post-war development program, Louis St. Laurent made a final desperate effort to return to private life. It was no use; Mr. King saw in him a second Laurier, and was determined to make him the next prime minister.

Leading Liberals used every imaginable argument to prevent him from stepping out of office. They pleaded the need to consolidate national unity and to prove to French Canada that Laurier's accession to the prime ministry was no mere accident but that any qualified Canadian could attain the highest office in the land.

They argued that he alone could ensure that Canada's voice would continue to be heard in the councils of the world. He protested that no man was indispensable; that he had done all that was asked of him in 1941 and more, and that, anyway, he still knew nothing about politics.

It was of no avail; and once again he put aside his personal interests and responded to the call of duty. In August, 1948, he became leader of the Liberal party, and three months later prime minister of Canada.

The biggest test came during the 1949 election campaign. Added to his natural shyness and reserve, his doubts about his aptitude for politics gave him a rather cold platform personality. Then one day he found himself surrounded by a mob of unruly schoolchildren during a brief train stop at the little western Alberta town of Edson. He moved into the group and started chatting with them as he would to his own grandchildren.

To everyone's delight, including his own, he was an immediate success. That was the day he received the affectionate title, "Uncle Louis." Relaxing into his new role, the rest of the campaign was easy and even pleasant. It ended with a record victory at the polls.

The record of accomplishments of the St. Laurent administration is long. During those years between 1948 and 1957 Canada matured into nationhood. Development and prosperity reached a minimum, and social legislation was vastly expanded. The St. Lawrence Seaway, the Canada Council, Newfoundland as Canada's tenth province, the Trans-Canada highway—all these and many more are monuments of the St. Laurent era.

In the international field, Mr. St. Laurent is credited with a key role in preserving Commonwealth unity. Canadian participation in the United Nations operations in Korea, and the creation of NATO, are closely associated with his name. His minister of external affairs, Lester B. Pearson, won the Nobel peace prize, an award that the latter insists is due in large part to Mr. St. Laurent's leadership.

An accomplishment that can never be measured in precise terms, but which ranks high on any such list, is Louis St. Laurent's contribution to national unity. Over and over he repeated his conviction that providence had decreed Canada to be a bilingual, bi-cultural country, and that she was the richer for her two languages and two cultures.

In French Canada he pleaded for understanding and confidence in English-speaking Canadians; in English Canada he appealed for appreciation of the important contribution of French-speaking Canadians to the nation.

If I may inject a personal note, I recall vividly the evening I boarded the train with him as one of his secretaries to open the 1957 election campaign in Winnipeg. We were all relaxed and confident as we waited for the train to pull out of Ottawa's Union station.

The "P.M." called me over and gave me one last piece of advice. "You will meet a lot of people on this trip who will try to convince you that some small piece of patronage will win a few more votes for the Liberals, or even swing a seat into our camp," he warned. "Remember that we must be always ready to listen to genuine grievances, but we must not act merely for partisan purposes."

I was in no mood to be serious and answered jokingly: "But don't you think, Mr. St. Laurent, that you are in danger of creating a new precedent in Canadian politics?"

As Our Readers See It

Daylight Saving All Year

According to the paper, daylight saving time is being extended and this is a good thing. A better plan would be to have it cover the whole year.

At the present time we experience, twice a year, a disruption in our private lives which is far more damaging than is at first realized. Ever since our civilization began we have grown accustomed to a certain order in our life and this was brought to a fine degree of development by accurate time pieces.

Most warm-blooded animals have what is known as a biological clock and this affects the urge to eat, eliminate, go to sleep, wake up, etc. Some people sleep and wake by this natural means and the need for an artificial time piece is obviated. I think this natural ability should be developed in more people and it cannot be done by a continuous process of interruption regardless of how much we enjoy our long evenings.

Make daylight saving time universal, permanent and avoid the destruction of our built-in time mechanisms and also confusion in this day of fast communications.

Brighter Side

A correspondent in your issue of Jan. 26 makes a point (Acceptuate the Positive) that I would like to emphasize by reference to certain items of information recently noted.

It seems that nearly all we read in the press about Africa stresses unhappy events. Surely more encouraging news deserves at least some space. In all fairness such encouraging items as the following should be reported to your readers.

A pedagogical institute established at Leopoldville to train teachers in secondary and higher education now enrolls 50 and expects to increase to 200. Institutes made possible by the UN Special Fund to train teachers and inspectors are to be established in Cameroon, Ivory Coast and Sudan. Television is to start in Kenya next July under an international consortium. A government subsidy is backing a National Theatre of Uganda offering opportunity to young actors and technicians. A conference on Tensions in Development has been held to deal with problems of development in the emergent nations. Last June about 80 delegates—authors, editors, publishers, printers and booksellers—attended an all-African conference on Christian literature.

Surely these hopeful signs should be given some publicity too.

Butter Instead of Guns

Recently the press has given coverage to speculation and argument, especially between Tory and Liberal politicians, on how the $120 million will be raised to pay the increase to our old-age pensioners.

May I offer the humble suggestion that our $2 billion arms budget be considered the source for this and all urgent public needs. It seems it took only the drop of a politician's hat to find almost $300 million to put into the arms budget during the so-called "Berlin Crisis," which I believe, as McLean's magazine correctly editorialized, was of our (West's) own making.

Of course, I suppose to do all this would mean that Canada would have to withdraw from NATO, etc., and take a neutralist course in foreign relations. I believe this would be the best contribution Canada could make toward peace, as the scrapping of all military blocs must necessarily be the first step in universal disarmament.

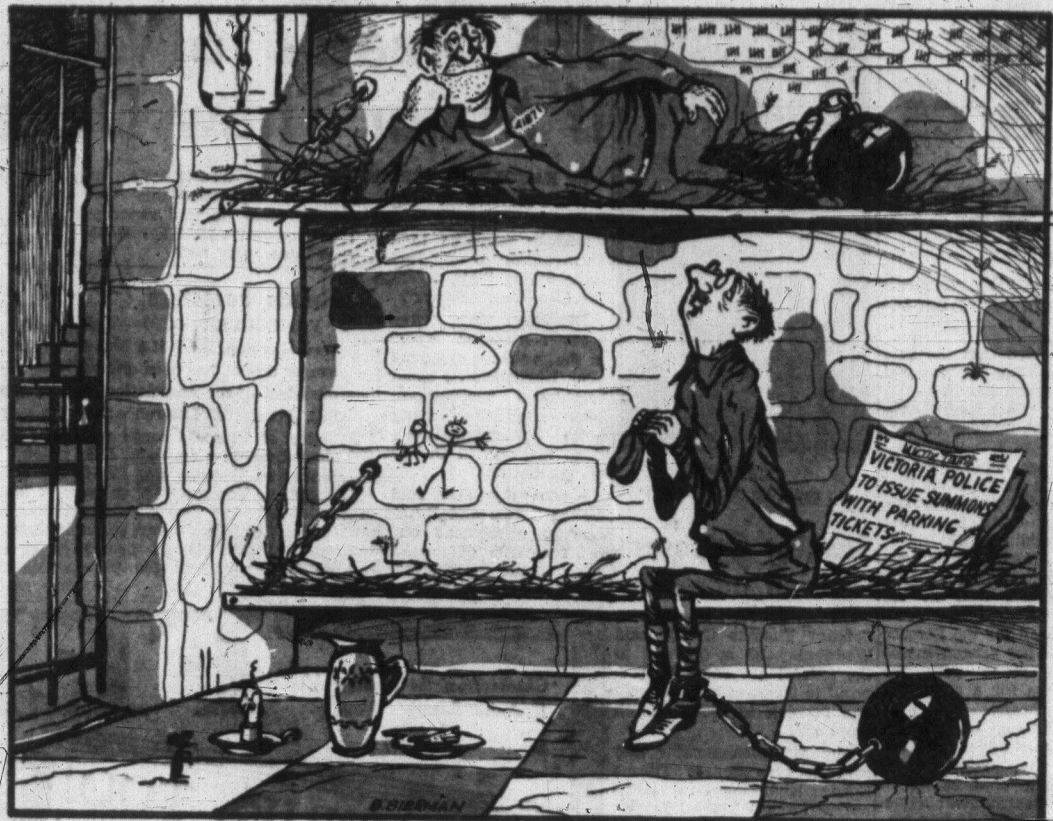

As a trade unionist, I'm sure all union men and women will heartily concur that to maintain a decent standard of living the minimum monthly pension for the aged should now be $100 at 65 without the means test.

FROM WASHINGTON

By JOSEPH ALSOP

The Three-Level Program of Defence

ON Thursday, Jan. 18, a meeting of an altogether new sort was held in the Cabinet room of the White House.

In form, it was an enlarged session of the National Security Council, which customarily sits on Thursdays. But the advance notices requiring attendance by all those invited, and the warning that no deputies would be admitted, had already indicated that something special was afoot. What was afoot, in fact, was nothing less than a lecture by the President of the United States on the political-strategic design he has worked out during his first year in office. The leading policy makers of the State Department, the civilian chiefs of the Pentagon, the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and a contingent from the C.I.A.—about 50 persons in all—composed the President's audience.

Deep Impression
He spoke rapidly and concisely, from his own notes, and with an effectiveness that left a deep impression, if one can judge by the ripples of comment in the wake of this curious event. In under half an hour, he had said all that he had to say; but the talk about what he said and how he said it still continues in the government's inner group.

The first part of the lecture was a rapid tour of the world political horizon. This was accompanied by short explanations of certain past decisions, such as the crucial decision not to intervene in Laos but to hold the line in South Vietnam at all costs against the Communist advance in Southeast Asia.

But the real heart of the lecture was its second part, in which the President expounded the principles of his new defence design.

The first principle, he stated, was the continued maintenance of a nuclear deterrent more powerful than the Soviet nuclear striking force by a comfortably wide margin. The probable existence of a nuclear stalemate was admitted; but the need for a margin of deterrence was insisted upon, as the best insurance against accidents and miscalculations.

Conventional Forces

The second principle, the President continued, was to "raise the threshold" of conventional warfare by maintenance of larger and more modern ground and other conventional forces. The aim here, it was explained, was not to provide an exact counterpoise for the enormous conventional forces of the Soviet Union.

The aim was, rather, to insure that the Soviets would never again consider doing what was done in Korea—planning a local attack by satellite forces without simultaneous engagement of Soviet forces, such as is theoretically possible today even in Europe.

It was necessary to "raise the threshold" enough to insure engagement of Soviet forces in any attack, because the Soviets would understand that this kind of total confrontation must lead to nuclear weapons being used. And if they understood this, the nuclear deterrent would then begin to operate.

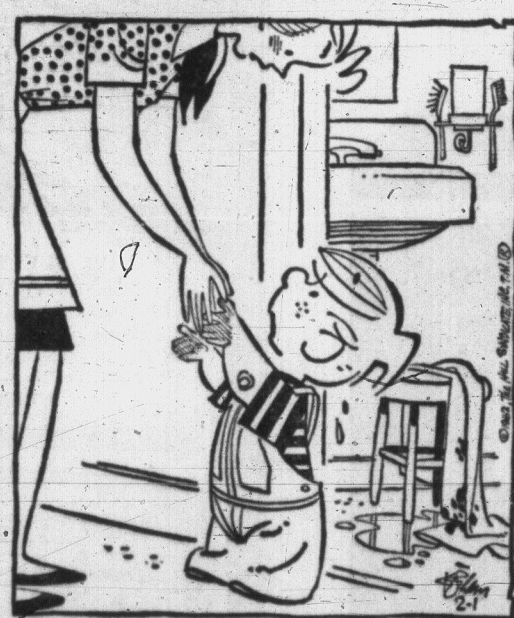

Nuclear Deterrent

After showing how the nuclear deterrent could thus be made to spill over, as it were, into deterrence of conventional offensives, the President turned to his third principle.

If the other parts of the strategic design all work as planned, he argued, then the only kind of war which most needs to be feared is the underground undeclared kind which the Soviets call a "war of liberation."

In this connection, the President reminded his audience of Nikita S. Khrushchev's most important theoretical utterance of the last two years—the speech of Jan. 6, 1961, in which the Soviet boss strongly insisted that "peaceful co-existence" ruled out any risk of a big war, but equally strongly pledged the Soviet Union to support "wars of liberation."

REPORTING

OTTAWA—We've been so self-righteous for so long about our expanding trade with neo-Communist Cuba that the blunt condemnation of it by one of President Kennedy's top advisers jars our national pride.

Arthur M. Schlesinger, Harvard professor and White House brain-truster, says we are undermining the U.S. and Latin American republics in their efforts to ensure that democracy prevails over Communism in Latin America.

"If this is true, then it is a very serious matter indeed. And it is at least a legitimate U.S. point of view. But there is also the opposing Canadian view: that we have no quarrel with Cuba, that we are conducting only 'normal' trade to the exclusion of strategic materials and goods transhipped from the U.S., that our trade keeps the Cuban economy from becoming wholly dependent on Iron Curtain countries."

We stand on our sovereign rights, muttering that the Americans forced Castro into the Soviet camp and that Washington isn't going to decide with whom we may trade. But behind our screen of defensive arguments, we can still experience a disturbed feeling that words like Schlesinger's exacerbate.

It is whether Canada is morally justified in sitting out democracy's struggle in Latin America, in refusing to join the Organization of American States, in making a quick buck at the expense and to the great annoyance of our true friends in this hemisphere.

The kind of Canada that Schlesinger's remarks depicted is a Canada alien to our conception. It is not the Canada of the Colombo Plan, of United Nations service, of ringing appeals for disarmament and stirring denunciations of Soviet imperialism, champion of human rights in South Africa, Eastern Europe and Angola.

It's an irresponsible Canada, an I'm-all-right-the-hell-with-you Canada that is selling out its friends and its own best long-term interests for a few measly Cuban pesos.

We're selling Cuba livestock, industrial materials, tractors, wood pulp, paper mill machinery, semi-processed copper, communications equipment, medicine, potatoes, yarn and thread, flour, and food flavoring. In the first eight months last year our sales amounted to $20.4 millions, up 200 per cent over 1960.

Yet in terms of our total trade this is peanuts. Is it worth the ill will of our friends? Frankly, I doubt it.

Yet what can we do about it? The government obviously won't embargo trade with Cuba. But what it can do is take Canada into the Organization of American States, to align Canada with its friends in the politico-economic struggle for Latin America, and to take such action as the OAS may decide should be taken collectively to prevent the Soviet bloc from using Cuba as a springboard for Communism.

There seems to be hesitation on ground that as an OAS member Canada would be subject to greater pressure from the U.S. than she is now. I doubt this. I believe that with Canada in the OAS, the U.S. would be more susceptible to Canadian pressure, and that our country could make a worthwhile contribution to the development of Latin America, and would benefit thereby. Until we take some positive action we really haven't got much of a defence when Americans like Schlesinger criticize us, or when Americans suggest, as The New Orleans Times-Picayune did in a recent editorial, that if we're looking for a national anthem for Canada, how about "Red Sales in the Sunset"?

Jamaica Freedom Forecast by August

LONDON (Reuters)—Colonial Secretary Reginald Maudling told Jamaican political leaders here today he is hopeful the Caribbean island would gain independence this year.

August was forecast as the month in which Jamaica will become an independent member of the British Commonwealth. The conference, expected to last about two weeks, will also try to reach agreement on a constitution for an independent Jamaica.

Jamaica, just off southern Cuba, voted to pull out of the West Indies Federation last September.

The University of Manitoba was established by an act of the legislature in 1877.

Crisis Hits Argentine Over 'Soft' OAS Stand

(Times News Services)

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay—The ouster of pro-Communist Cuba from the councils of the Organization of American States was viewed today as a somewhat costly victory for the United States because it produced the first major split in the 10-year history of the OAS.

Six countries abstained on the resolution to expel Cuba because they disagreed over whether the OAS foreign ministers conference here could legally take such a move. Firm action had been urged by the United States.

The resolution mustered only the minimum of 14 votes necessary for the expulsion. All previous ministerial level conferences have resulted in at least 20 to 21 votes on resolutions.

The conference split generated pressure from conservatives in the Argentine government, one of the six nations which held out for a go-slow approach.

Argentina's military chiefs were reported furious at the soft line taken by President Arturo Frondizi's government. They were reported to have served him with an ultimatum demanding a diplomatic break with Fidel Castro's regime and support of the next steps in the OAS council to isolate Cuba from the inter-American family.

There was no indication, however, what the military would do if Frondizi refused its demand.

Bowing to the military—a

... can he resist?

Frondizi bowed to the military last August and fired a previous foreign minister, Adolfo Mugica, who was blamed for setting up a much-criticized meeting between him and Cuba's Communist economic czar Ernesto Guevara.

High-ranking army, navy and air force officers held secret meetings as the inter-American foreign ministers' conference was winding up Wednesday and decided on a showdown.

The 63-year-old Frondizi, who has weathered crisis after crisis since he took over the presidency in 1958, appeared to be facing one of the most serious threats yet.

While officials were silent, informants and the influential newspaper La Nacion indicated the crisis may force Frondizi's hand in a wholesale government shakeup.

powerful force in Argentina politics—would amount to repudiation of the government's refusal to go along with the United States and 13 other Latin American countries.

Castro's Cuba has been a headache before for Frondizi, caught between strong leftist factions and the traditionally conservative military.

Cheap at the Price

WASHINGTON (UPI)—At the present time, I am unable to foresee any circumstance under which I would pay 75 cents to cuss out a congressman.

But I will credit Western Union with a step in the right direction for having made the six-bit blessing out available.

The telegraph company did so this week by starting a new "personal opinion message" service. It entitles persons living anywhere in the United States to send a 15-word wire to their senators and representatives in Washington at a special rate.

The telegram goes for 75 cents if it expresses the sender's personal opinion about some issue or another. Western Union thinks this might encourage more citizens to make their feelings known.

There is, of course, no requirement that the messages be castigations. I'm just jumping to conclusions on that point. My guess is that very few constituents are going to shell out the better part of a dollar to tell their congressman they love him.

Even so, six-bits is still a rather steep price for spleen venting. It seems to me that Western Union would get more business if it took a different approach.

What I have in mind is a "personal opinion" service similar to the form greetings that the company offers on Mother's Day and other special occasions.

It would give the customer a choice of preworded, all-purpose messages that could be dispatched to congressmen at a reduced rate.

For a small extra charge, perhaps some of the messages could be set to music and sent as singing telegrams.

As I visualize the service, the messages would run something like this:

"When they're in the red, taxpayers are blue; vote to cut taxes or, brother, you're through!"

"Congratulations on your speech against government spending. What's holding up public works project for this district?"

"Your demand for committee investigation of patronage system is great service to nation. Who do I see about getting job on committee staff?"

"Strongly urge that you oppose new farm program. Agriculture for too long has been whipping boy of American economy."

"Strongly advise that you stay out of fight over new farm program. This is election year."

Secret Army Stages Holdups

ALGIERS (UPI)—Gunsmen netted $123,000 in six separate holdups Wednesday, killed four persons and wounded two, and triggered a series of strikes by workers protesting the wave of terrorism sweeping Algerian.

Police believed the armed robberies were carried out by members of the outlawed Secret Army Organization in a move to replenish its treasury.

'SHIFT TO THE LEFT' MADE BY ITALIAN GOV'T

(Times News Service)

NAPLES, Italy—Italy's ruling Christian Democratic party swung to the left today in a move to give the country a new government backed by Pietro Nenni's Socialists, former allies of the Communists.

The Christian Democratic party congress, after five days of debate here, voted on Premier Amintore Fanfani's plan to scuttle his middle-of-the-road government and replace it with a centre-left cabinet that could win socialist support for a more vigorous domestic program of economic, social and school reforms.

Fanfani was expected to resign by this weekend, but party sources said he was likely to be named premier again to head the coalition government projected in the resolution.

Although approving the "opening to the left" that Fanfani has urged since 1956, the resolution pledged the party to maintain Italy's pro-Western foreign policy as a member of the North Atlantic alliance.

It also rejected any move toward "outright communism or fascism," saying that any government backed by the Christian Democrats would work for full independence of every totalitarian influence.

The size of Fanfani's victory was not to be known until counting of the votes was completed later today, but all factions agreed after the end of debate that the majority of the 750 delegates were behind the shift.

Only Scotties come in the "Magic Oval" box

The "Magic Oval"—inside every new Scottie's box is the secret of Scottie's brand-new two-way dispensing. Only Scottie's have it!

Scotties now float up! Take one, another floats up. No tugging, no tearing, no extra tissues tagging along. So handy!

Handfuls too — just reach under the "Magic Oval" for as many Scottie's as you like. All neatly folded for purse or pocket.

So gentle — Scottie's have a softness all their own. Yet they're so absorbent, perfect for removing makeup.

Scottie's are sneeze-proof! You can't blow a hole in a Scottie, so germs can't get through. Keep a box handy in every room — pink, yellow and white.

Made by Westminister Paper Company Limited who bring you "Hankie" every Sunday night on the CBC television network.

HANKIE PACK TOO
Scottie's, folded like handkerchiefs, come in the beautiful new no-flake box too. Get Scottie's today.

Wildcat Oil, Gas Strike in B.C.

WILDCAT OIL, GAS STRIKE IN B.C.

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

A significant and timely oil and gas strike has been made east of the Peeley field, about 40 miles north of Fort St. John, by Pacific Petroleum, Rainbow Oil and Canadian Oil.

A wildcat evaluating a 50,366-acre tract, in which Canada Southern Petroleum has a 27 per cent carried interest, gave a peak flow of 6 1/2 million cubic feet of wet gas from the triassic-halfway sand, formation along with oil at 600 barrels daily.

The wildcat is eight miles west of Peeley field oil production and indicates a successful conclusion to the search for badly needed immediate gas reserves for the Westcoast Transmission system, since it is within reasonable distance of the Westcoast gathering system.

While enormous gas reserves have been indicated in recent weeks in the far north of the province and across the border in the Northwest Territories, Westcoast has been hard-pressed to find sufficient gas within reach of present pipelines and has been forced to draw on gas from Alberta.

Vast reserves of gas will be added to the Westcoast system on completion of the pipeline to the Clarke Lake field, just a few miles northeast of Fort

St. John, which may be completed in 1963.

A recent paper delivered at a meeting of the Alberta Society of Petroleum Geologists in Calgary estimated gas reserves at Clarke Lake to be in the order of two trillion cubic feet. There are already eight producing wells in the field and more will be drilled as the pipeline approaches.

New Indian Mines Ltd., heavy trader at Vancouver this week, has optioned 18 claims adjoining the Price group claims of Western Mines Ltd., near Butte Lake.

New Indian has undertaken a work commitment for this year and next and has until the end of 1963 to exercise its option. If the option is taken up a three million-share company would be set up in which New Indian would hold part of the vendor shares and would arrange financing.

An initial underwriting of 200,000 shares at 15 cents has been undertaken by H. C. Ketcheson Investments Ltd., and another option of 200,000 shares at 25 cents is due June 1.

Final option on Kamloops Copper Co. Ltd., shares—150,000 shares of treasury stock at 25 cents—has been taken down and paid for by Wolverson & Co. Ltd., and Giant Mascot Mines Ltd. Kamloops reports it now has sufficient funds on hand for a thorough examination of its property, including diamond drilling.

Heavy competitive pressure and increased costs combined to sharply reduce net income of Texaco Canada Ltd. in 1961, according to president A. N. Lilley.

Estimated net income of $10,192,000 or $3.10 a share in 1961 compares with $11,110,187 or $3.38 a share the previous year. Taking into account 1960 item of $370,000 non-recurring capital gain resulting from sale of investments, the 1961 net still runs almost $350,000 behind the previous year.

Obvious need for Texaco to improve its competitive position lends strength to the rumor that a merger of Royalite Oil into Texaco is imminent.

Royalite's strong service station chain in B.C., Alberta and Saskatchewan, along with its valuable oil and gas reserves, and two refineries would be a valuable asset for Texaco.

Creation of a new giant in Canadian mining companies was accomplished Wednesday when shareholders of Falconbridge Nickel Mines Ltd. voted in favor of a merger with Ventures Ltd. Ventures shareholders approved the merger at a meeting the previous day.

Falconbridge buys all Ventures assets, with the exception of about 2.1 million shares of Falconbridge, in exchange for 800,000 shares of Falconbridge. Ventures shareholders will receive all shares of Falconbridge owned by their company on the basis of 104 Falconbridge for 100 Ventures.

In addition, McIntyre Porcupine Mines Ltd., which controls both companies, receives 280,600 treasury shares of Falconbridge at $62.03 a share.

Ventures assets acquired by Falconbridge include Giant Yellowknife Gold, United Keno Hill Mines, Opemiska Copper, Lake Dufault Mines, Dominion Magnesium, Alminex Ltd., Canada Iron Mining, Canada Tungsten Mining and many others.

Albert E. Clevette

The appointment of Albert E. Clevette as Manager of British Columbia, Canadian Schenley Ltd., has been announced by Mr. Ralph O. Mitchell, General Sales Manager, Western Canada, Mr. Clevette will make his headquarters in Vancouver.

Gilt-edged securities made further modest headway on small investment buying and dollar stocks were mainly higher in adjustment to better trans-Atlantic values.

Industrials were firm but among leading issues Court-aids and Imperial Chemicals were both a few pence lower.

Gold shares were quiet and mainly steady.

McMillan-Bloedel sold at $18.25.

FIRM ACCUSES RIVAL OF LURING EMPLOYEES

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A Rochester, N.Y. publishing firm has sued a publishing company here for $6,000,000, charging the rival firm lured away its top executives.

The Bancroft-Whitney Company, which specializes in legal publications, filed the action in superior court Wednesday against Matthew Bender and Company of San Francisco.

Bancroft accused Matthew Bender of hiring away its president, three other top executives and 13 key employees to obtain trade secrets.

They all resigned Dec. 15 without notice, the action alleged.

'THOMSON IN REVERSE'

U.K. Group Buys B.C. Newspapers

LONDON (CP)—A British financial observer found it difficult today to hide his satisfaction over the news that the Liverpool Daily Post and Echo Limited had bought three British Columbia newspapers.

"A Thomson in reverse," says Observer, a Financial Times columnist.

By buying The Fraser Valley Record, the Chilliwack Progress and the Abbotsford, Sumas and Matsqui News, the Liverpool newspaper has increased its Canadian holdings to seven newspapers. The Chilliwack paper is a bi-weekly and the other two are weeklies.

"In these days of newspapers disappearing into group press empires, it is a pleasant change to find a happily expanding independent," says The Financial Times writer in his "men and matters" column.

The reference to "Thomson in reverse" was an allusion to Canadian publisher Roy Thomson, who has become one of the British newspaper tycoons as a result of his acquisitions in less than a decade of operations in Britain.

The three newspapers purchased by the Liverpool Daily Post are published in Mission, Chilliwack and Abbotsford, all Fraser Valley centres east of Vancouver.

Cecil Hacker, Abbotsford publisher since 1949, will be president and general manager of all three papers.

Financial terms involved in the deal were not announced. Mr. Hacker said the policy will be to continue each of the three newspapers as a separate hometown paper "serving its own community in its own way."

Lang Sands, Fraser Valley Record publisher, has agreed to remain as editor-manager of that paper for an extended period, Mr. Hacker said.

The Post now has two newspapers in Ontario, one in Saskatchewan and one in Alberta. The Red Deer Advocate has been converted from a twice-weekly to a daily publication. A. G. Jeans, managing direc-

U.S. Stockpile Canada Worry

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP)—The United States has been quietly informed there would be deep concern in Canada if the U.S. suddenly were to dump aluminum, nickel and other stockpiled strategic materials on world markets.

Informants said Wednesday this Canadian view was conveyed to U.S. authorities during an informal discussion of growing U.S. concern over the burden of maintaining a stockpile in excess of what U.S. military forces may require in an emergency.

President Kennedy told a press conference Wednesday he was astonished by the size of the stockpile particularly in aluminum and nickel, and said the issue is being placed under review by a special government commission and a congressional subcommittee.

AWARE OF IMPACT
However, Canadian authorities were heartened by the president's further statement that he is well aware of the impact that the dumping of the stockpile would have on world markets. Kennedy pledged he would take no action that would disrupt commodity prices.

Kennedy estimated the stockpile value at $7,700,000,000 but officials said later this was the value at current market prices.

The actual cost of acquisition was about $8,500,000,000. Among 76 items ranging from tin to opium there are substantial quantities of aluminum and nickel purchased from Canadian producers.

Canadian authorities are convinced that Canada and other countries would be consulted by the Kennedy administration before it took any major action to offer large quantities for disposal.

Dried Foods Urged

OTTAWA (CP)—A meeting of Canada's top firefighters Wednesday recommended that the government investigate the possibility of making dehydrated meats and vegetables regulation diet for men on the fireline.

ADDRESSING a meeting of the Victoria branch of the World Federalists of Canada on Saturday is national president Dr. William M. Sheehan of Montreal. Aim of the Federalists is to assure world peace through the reconstitution of the United Nations to legally enforce world-wide total disarmament. Meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the St. John Ambulance Hall, Pandora Ave., and will be chaired by Dr. Hugh Keenleyside.

PM Skeptical On Tariffs

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker was reported to have expressed doubt on Wednesday that President Kennedy's tariff-cutting program can clear the United States Congress.

Members of a 75-man farm delegation said he took the view that he would be surprised if the Kennedy proposals—designed to reduce tariff barriers multilaterally in reaction to the development of two off-street garages providing a total of 600 car spaces.

U.K. Wants ECM Answer Before End of Summer

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain has told leaders in European Common Market countries it would like to know by July or August whether it will be accepted in the trading bloc, authoritative sources said here today.

The British government's timetable, it was stated, calls for Brussels negotiations between Britain and the six market countries to reach a point this summer showing that Britain's entry will be certain.

Then there could be no drawing back, even though the detailed negotiations would continue for many months more.

This would enable Prime Minister Macmillan to tell Parliament before its summer recess where the country stands.

The government could go ahead and prepare domestic legislation on Common Market entry for the parliamentary session starting in November.

It is believed here there will be a Commonwealth prime ministers' conference after the issues now being discussed in Brussels have become clearer. Britain is committed not to take irrevocable steps without fully consulting the Commonwealth.

The British are reported to have proposed the timetable in recent talks with leaders of Common Market countries, including Dr. Konrad Adenauer, West German chancellor.

DOWNTOWN PARKING SITES

Expropriation City's Next Move

The City Hall appears headed for expropriation proceedings to obtain two sites for downtown parking garages.

The likelihood of the last resort action arose today on the heels of a cancelled special council meeting which was to have received a report on negotiations for the undisclosed properties.

The properties never have been identified but are known to be on View Street, between Blanshard and Douglas, and adjoining Bastion Square.

MATTER OF PRICE

Negotiations bogged down, principally over price, between the city's parking commission and the property holders, forcing cancellation of the Wednesday afternoon council meeting.

It is expected the parking commission will make a formal recommendation to the city council early next week.

If no agreement between the parties is reached by then, the only procedure left for the city to acquire the sites is expropriation, in which the price would be arbitrated.

Mayor R. B. Wilson, after a parking commission session, said he hoped "before too long we will have something concrete" to report.

"We had a good discussion and got a lot of information but we reached no conclusions."

The general area of the sites was approved in a $1,115,000 bylaw passed by downtown ratepayers last year for the development of two off-street garages providing a total of 600 car spaces.

SPORTS

DOUG PEDEN, Sports Editor

10 Victoria Daily Times THURS., FEB. 1, 1962

Hal Malone LOOKS AT SPORTS

"What do you think of the slap-shot, Milt?" Biff Smith asked.

"I think that every time a player uses it," said Schmidt, "he should get a two-minute penalty."

"I've seen hundreds of slap shots and I can't remember the last one that went in the net," said Smith.

"So they get great speed with them," said Schmidt. "But what about the accuracy they sacrifice? Look, there are only three players in the National Hockey League today who have any success with the slap."

"Andy Bathgate is the best. But he can thread a needle with any kind of shot. Boom-Boom Geoffrion has a good one. So has Gordy Howe. Sometimes I think he has the best. He doesn't really slap like Bathgate and Geoffrion. They wind up and then fire. Howe doesn't lift his stick too high and uses plenty of wrist. What wrists!"

This was at the Oldtimers' hockey feed. Smith is an ex-minor league player who makes his home at New Westminster. Schmidt had just flown into the Bahamas of B.C. from Saskatoon.

As assistant general manager of Boston Bruins he had been surveying the prairie market for promising baby Bruins. If he had found any, he didn't say so.

"All I saw," he said, "was kids using the silly slap-shot. They hold their sticks above their heads and put on a great show. But by the time they hit the puck the goalie has had time to read the telegraph and it's just another wasted shot."

Hewitt, Pratt Knew Schmidt Existed

His disgust was almost tantamount to profanity. He doesn't look like the fellow whose vigorous conduct over 15 seasons caused many an opponent to seek safer occupations such as taming tigers or socializing with cannibals. In dress, looks and speech he could pass for a vice-president of International Business Machines.

This is the same Schmidt whom Walter Pratt, the man of letters, had described as the "best centre" he had ever seen.

Had Mr. Pratt exaggerated a little?

"Listen," said Walter. (When he says "listen" you know it's like getting a message from the Volga boatmen).

"Listen... I played with and against the best centres in the NHL for 10 years. Clint Smith, Max Bentley, Bill Taylor, Bill Cowley, Ted Kennedy—all of them. Wasn't anybody like Schmidt."

"He was m-e-a-n. He would go around you. Or through you. Or over you. Nobody really stopped that fella."

Schmidt was more than that. He was an inspirational player. He could stroke a fire like nobody else. More than one night this neophyte can recall listening to Foster Hewitt's post-game monotone... "Well, the Toronto Maple Leafs were doing fine tonight until Milt Schmidt lifted the Bruins up and..."

Poor Habs... Nothin' But Power

Any of the inspirational species around today?

"A few," he said softly. "But we (Boston Bruins) don't have one. Don McKeeney? A really good hockey player. But not the type who generates his teammates in the same way as, say, Howe."

He ticked off two others... "Bobby Hull for the Chicago—he makes them go; Doug Harvey for New York—the best passer in the business."

Montreal? "They don't have one. Little Henry Richard is the closest thing to a leader. But he's more of a tireless worker. Everything comes naturally to him. But a leader? No, not since the Rocket left."

Schmidt smiled. "I find it difficult to feel sorry for them. All they have is Beliveau, Provost, Hicke, Backstrom, Goyette, Johnson, Plante."

"That Provost," Schmidt said, rolling the name around like he was savoring a creamy chocolate. "How they ever kept him off the first all-star team I'll never know. Even if he doesn't score another goal—he had 26 last time I looked—he should be on it for his defensive ability. All goals of forwards score goals for you. The test is how many goals are scored against you. That's where Provost stands out."

The Dog Handler Gets the Job Done

Did any other first-team all-star selections disturb him?

"I was a little surprised that (Jean-Guy) Talbot made it on defence," Schmidt said. "We have two defencemen I would rate higher. Leo Bolvin and Doug Mohns. As a skater Mohns can go with anybody. Bobby Baum? I read that Punch Imlach felt he should have made it over Talbot. Maybe. But Baum is strictly a defensive player."

"I would have put Stan Mikita at centre. He's the best playmaker we've looked at this year. Hull gives you a lot of dippy-doodle. Mikita is more direct, more purposeful."

He shared, he said, the affection of the Toronto press for Dave Keon, the youthful sophomore with the scoring touch.

"Keon makes few mistakes and he never stops hustling. Without taking anything away from him, I would give Bert Olmstead a lot of credit for Keon's success. A listener raised his eyebrows. Olmstead lacks the shot of Mahovlich, the finesse of Kelly, the speed of Duff. He is hardly poetry in motion."

"Olmstead gets goals when you need them," said Schmidt emphatically. "He'll skate through the boards or up into the seats if he has to but he'll score."

Then, with a half-smile... "but awkward, oh my! The way he skates he reminds me of a fellow walking five St. Bernards on one leash."

STRIKING WORKERS...

It Just Isn't Cricket to Picket

LONDON (AP)—It just isn't cricket to picket the wicket, old boy.

Turners spun it. Seamers wouldn't dream of it. The mere thought gives stitchers the twitches.

That's why things were so politely quiet Wednesday at the cricket ball factories of Chiddingstone—pronounced Chiddingston—and Leigh—pronounced Leigh as in untruth. There's a strike on; but picketing isn't done, at Chiddingstone. And as for Leigh, they'd rather die.

Anyway, there was nobody to picket. All 55 of the workers have walked out—every stitcher, turner, closer and quilt maker.

Gothamites Gobble Bruins; Maki Paces Chihawk Win

By Canadian Press

New York Rangers have snapped their longest National Hockey League losing streak in 18 years. They did it Wednesday night, largely because of a magnificent goaltending performance by Lorne "Gump" Worsley.

Worsley stopped 40 shots—four on solo breakaways—and

HOCKEY... OR JUDO PRACTICE?

With bodies flying around Chicago Black Hawks' goal like tumbling tenpins, it seems hardly likely that anybody could shoot a puck into it. Incredible gaze of Chicago defenceman Jack Evans, on his knees, seems to bear out this conviction. But Norm Ullman scored on this occasion despite antics of Evans and goalie Glenn Hall, about to duplicate man-on-the-flying-trapeze act. Pair of Chicagoans unquestionably felt better later as Hawks ripped through Detroit 4-1. (AP Wirephoto).

Ports Score at Gate But Tied by Spokane

By The Canadian Press

A bitter rivalry between Portland Buckaroos and Spokane Comets continued Wednesday night and produced the second largest crowd in Western Hockey League history.

The Buckaroos and Comets, top two teams in the Southern Division, battled to a 3-3 overtime tie before a near-capacity crowd of 10,658 at Portland. It was only last weekend that the league's attendance mark of 13,702 was set at Los Angeles.

Largest previous crowd was 10,604 at Portland last season. Calgary Stampede moved to within two points of first place in the Northern Division by walloping Vancouver Canucks 8-3 in Wednesday's only other game. The loss was the ninth in 11 games for Vancouver, the last-place northern club.

The huge Portland crowd roared its approval when the Buckaroos scored twice in the final two and a half minutes of the third period to force a 3-3 tie.

Winger Tom McVie, who had scored Portland's first goal earlier in the period, split the Spokane defence and cut the deficit to 3-2 at 17:39. Arnie Schmutz gave the Buckaroos a tie by scoring with just seven seconds remaining in regulation time and goaltender Don Head on the bench in favor of an extra forward.

McVie's goals gave him the league high of 32.

Del Topoli, Gordie Stratton and Max Mekliko, the league's leading scorers, provided the Spokane goals.

The tie enabled first-place Portland to maintain its 12-point lead over second-place Spokane.

Norm Johnson and Bert Fizzell scored two goals each in leading hometown Calgary to its easy win over Vancouver before 4,319 fans.

Ron Leopold, Doug Barkley, Cliff Bristow and Sid Finney completed the Stampede's scoring while Jim Baird, Larry Popein and Barrie Ross answered for Vancouver.

Baird's goal was his 31st of the season.

The win left second-place Calgary just two points back of Edmonton Flyers.

NEW YORK (AP)—Frankie Ryff, 28, former lightweight boxing contender, remained in critical condition Wednesday after undergoing surgery Tuesday to relieve a blood clot on the brain.

JUDGE'S BITE MORE PAINFUL THAN INSULT

DENVER (UPI)—A Denver judge has ruled that a basketball referee cannot punch a player in the jaw, even if the player questions the official's ability to see.

District court Judge Edward J. Keating awarded $2,000 damages to John Gillespie, 27, in a civil suit against Victor L. Dahnon, 28.

Dahnon was refereeing a game Nov. 8, 1960, in Manual High School here when he became involved in an altercation with Gillespie, a player on a local pickup team.

Witnesses testified Gillespie told Dahnon that "the other referee isn't blind" after Dahnon called a fifth foul on him. They said Dahnon punched the player in the jaw.

The judge awarded Gillespie $427 for doctor bills and $1,573 for a broken jaw.

Behind Tender Is Tender...

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—There's an old line about "what's in a name?" and when it comes to boats there is only one answer: Plenty.

There is a craft, as example, sailing the waters in and around this city billed as the Venice of America which bears on its butt end the gilded legend Mama's Mink.

That's no joke, son. "There goes my mink," said the lady of the house the first time she laid distressed eyes on the family's expensive new acquisition.

She wasn't kidding, either. And it was small consolation that the boat at least had earned an unusual name.

Quite naturally, owning your own boat can become an expensive proposition. This is reflected in a great many other names of the craft skipping along these waterways.

There is one titled simply Sixteen-Five. Which is exactly what it cost, "plus a few extras here and there, of course."

Another fellow in the same boat, financially, that is, had to have a new rig. What with one thing and another, he called it Second Mortgage. Why second?

"Because," he said, "my first boat was called First Mortgage, and times haven't changed a bit."

Then there's the fellow whose sleek, trim craft is titled Dollars More. The answer is easy to understand.

"It cost, and keeps costing, dollars more than I expected."

The bachelor clan has a grand time coming up with fitting, and hopeful, names for its boats. Say like Dina Might, and Aquaholic and even Aqua-Veet. Then there's one, called Sea Deuce, and you can figure that out for yourself.

'Phfft' Did Just That in Race

The most aptly-named one of all probably is the craft called Phfft. It was leading the Miami endurance race with only 25 minutes to go when it did just that. Then there's Caduceus Wild, which belongs to Dick Sherman of Trenton, Mich. He's a doctor and, it seems, quite a poker player.

Bill Brower of Fort Lauderdale owns a fishing boat titled Pushwave III. He's a former hair stylist who invented a Pushwave permanent wave process and chucked the whole hair-do business for a life on the unpermanent waves.

You can believe it or not, but Joe Maybrown of Long Beach, N.Y., gets so much noise out of his racing craft that he calls it, now get this, Das-Firescriptt Loudinboomer.

One fellow named Harris has a boat called Sirrah. "It's merely Harris spelled backwards," he grinned. "My wife picked it out and wasn't bothered at all that it's an ancient form of address implying inferiority."

Then there's Ma's Rival. "Even so," observed a lonely lady sitting on a pier, "it's better than being a golf widow. This way she gets a chance to go along once in a while."

One of the most clever boat handles around these precincts is a dandy little boat named Mitotay. But the favorite in this corner is a big craft named Tender.

Dancing along in back of it on a tow-line is a tiny tender. It, too, has a name neatly painted on its stern.

Tender Behind.

Tenpin Title Trail To Start Saturday

City bowlers start shooting for tenpin titles this weekend. Team competition at Aurora Lanes Saturday and Sunday will launch the annual city handicap championship staged by the Victoria Tenpin Bowling Association. One shift will roll at 1 p.m. Saturday and four shifts are slated Sunday.

A new champion is assured among the 64 teams entered. C & C Taxi, winner last year, does not have a squad in competition this season. Princess Mary Keglers, runners-up in 1961, are back for another try.

Individual scores in the team scramble will count in all events totals, which will be completed the following weekend when singles and doubles events are staged.

Veteran Jack Hobby took the scratch all-events crown last year and Al Knight collected the handicap all-events title. Eric Harbinson won the singles and the duo of Harry Yeaton and Harold Thickett topped the doubles.

SATURDAY—1 p.m.—Dug N. Suda, Aurora Lanes, Morrison Motors, Tally Ho Hotel, Drake Hotel, Banco Paints (senior), George Hotel, Totems, Goodwill Pickups, Beacon Towers.

SUNDAY—12 a.m.—Low Cost, Mornau Bros., The Diners, Sunbeam, Kings Hotel, Victoria Van and Storage, Oak Bay Pharmacy No. 1, Princess Mary, Suburbs, Central Barbers, Dobbies, Capital Iron, Wilson Frozen Foods, Hunter Bros., Churchill Hotel, Dockyard No. 1.

2 p.m.—F. W. Shaw, Island Paint, Greig Cleaners, Speedway Motors, Bayco Paint (commercial), Island Pacific Oil, Agates, Tastee Freez, Brown Bombers, Harknett Fuel (commercial), Sandy's Auto Parts, M.P.'s, Leads, Slugs, Squirts, Stereos.

4:30 p.m.—British Public Schools, Sun, cret, Edits, Ingraham Hotel, Dickie & Shaver, Lucky Lager, Pepsi Cola, Unknowns (senior).

6 p.m.—Victoria Press, Harknett Fuel, B.C. Government No. 5, B&B Air Cabinets, Cigarette Vending, Hocking & Forbes, Unknowns (commercial), Dominion Meat, Oak Bay Pharmacy No. 2, Six Mile House, Rockets, Dickinson & Dunn, Our Gang, Vikings.

Bert Lines Up Four Big Ones

"Boxing fans," muses Bert Wilkinson, "enjoy watching heavyweights."

"So we're giving them four on Friday."

That's one of the attractions the Victoria Boxing Club's promoter, manager and coach is offering ring enthusiasts who plan to sit in on Friday's 10-bout amateur card at Central Junior High School.

Gary Kelly, punching under the colors of the Victoria club, faces D. Keirs of Legion 42 (formerly Naval Vets) in one heavyweight clash and another VBC belter with an Irish name, Tom O'Rourke, is slated to swap leather with Lady Smith's Harry Elzinga.

Headlining the card will be an over-weight bout between "Golden Boy" Tommy Black of Victoria and Fred Francis, rated as one of the best performers in the Army Boxing Club (PPCLI).

Black normally fights at about 132 pounds. He'll probably go at 134-135, and will still concede Francis two or three pounds.

"That shouldn't matter to Tommy," said Wilkinson, "he fights best when the going's toughest."

Among other matches that promise some interesting action are a 147-pound battle between Salt Spring's Ted Ackerman and Legion's Mike Caird, and a middleweight argument involving Danny Daniels, Chemainus, and Bill Gow, PPCLI.

70—Dan Ackerman, Salt Spring, vs. Howard Baby, VBC.

80—Harvey Seymour, Chemainus, vs. Greg Williams, VBC.

Heavyweight—D. Keirs, Legion 42, vs. Gary Kelly, VBC.

135—Tony Laidich, VBC, vs. Art Hamblin, Chemainus.

145—Mike Nickla, Chemainus, vs. Pte. Danny Campbell, PPCLI.

160—Danny Daniels, Chemainus, vs. Pte. Bill Gow, PPCLI.

175—Mike Caird, Legion 42, vs. Ted Ackerman, Salt Spring.

190—Tom Black, VBC, vs. Pte. Fred Francis, PPCLI.

Slow Start Wrecks Collegians

A fat, 26-point cushion goes a long way.

Victoria College junior basketballers learned that lesson Wednesday. They got behind First United 34-25 in the first half, never were able to catch up at Mount View gym.

The Collegians outscored First United 26-23 in the second half but that early deficit cost them dearly. First United took it all, 74-51.

In a Senior B ladies' game, the Esquimalt Market defeated

Naval Vets 37-32. The teams play again Monday at Mount View at 8:30. First United and Victoria Optimists collide in a junior game Monday at 7.

THROW-OUT MATCH

Mrs. H. Ward, marking up 50, and Mrs. J. Blyth, with 53, finished 1-2 in a throw-out tournament for ladies of the Esquimalt Market defeated Uplands Golf Club this week.

Victoria College Senior B women to meet Wednesday at 7 p.m. Mount View gym, followed by Victoria Optimists and Victoria College, junior men, at 8:30 p.m.

Esquimalt Market—Shields 2, Campbell 13, Spauldon 1, Colquhoun 13, Burton, Mitchell 4, Beaulieu, Speight, Donald, Wimmerburn, Total—37.

Naval Vets—Pearcey, Crowe, Murrain, Mosty 4, Pearson 13, Mason, Archibald 1, Campbell 13, Total—32.

First United—Gally 18, Raibden 8, Turner 3, Green 7, Entwistle 2, John 10, McKeachie 13, Gould, Harris 11, Greenwood, Total—74.

Victoria College—Sleep 8, Saunders 2, Crawford 7, Brodie 2, Gornall 6, Bell 4, Rowsey 7, Richmond 17, Total—51.

dad's home

It seems as though family life stands still while Dad's away on a business trip. You're all marking time till he's home again—to help with homework or take in a hockey game, fix a faucet, a nightcap or a broken roller skate. Isn't it wonderful, then, the way TCA can save him travelling time—bring him home with extra hours of leisure to spend with you and the family? And when Dad covers the miles in restful comfort, he arrives home ready and eager to take part in the many activities that make up happy family life.

WHY DON'T YOU FLY ALONG ON THE NEXT BUSINESS TRIP? Shopping, sightseeing, a few days at a pleasant hotel... that's the sort of life a woman needs from time to time. Almost any city your husband visits on business can be a real holiday centre for you. Even if you can manage only a few days away from home, you'll bless TCA for making the trip not only possible, but so very, very pleasant!

HOW MUCH WOULD IT COST?

Check up on fares and you'll be surprised to find that flying by TCA is almost always much less expensive than you'd thought.

FLY NOW—PAY LATER. Why not budget your air travel, just as you budget for other things you need and want? The down payment—as little as 10%! And the balance is arranged to fit your pocketbook. For example:

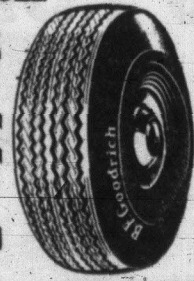

VICTORIA TO TORONTO
$198 Return Economy Fare
Ask about TCA's low fares in other points.

CALL YOUR TRAVEL AGENT for friendly help. He'll look after flight schedules, make your airline and hotel reservations, and give you any information you need on passports, foreign currency, what clothes to take along, and the kind of weather to expect at your destination.

TEEN-AGE CANADA

How Quickly Can You Read?

By JACK HUTTON

The scene: The back room where the student of the house sits with a pained expression over the pile of homework he's been assigned to read over night.

Suddenly he pushes back his chair.

"Just can't do it," he says. "I just can't seem to get through this stuff fast enough and nothing's sinking in: I'll never catch up."

How many young Canadians, I wonder, find slow reading a problem? If the guesses of our best educators are any measure, this handicap will keep thousands of young people from progressing far past their first job.

Most Canadian universities, for example, find that a large number of freshmen need help in reading. Somewhere along the way something froze in the reading process.

Just for interest (and without being too personal, I hope) how fast do you read? And did you know that just a bit of practice can add perhaps 100 words a minute to your speed?

Time yourself and see where you fit into these average Canadian reading levels: College graduate 325 to 350 words a minute; high school graduate, 295 to 325; Grade 8, 249 to 295; Grades 6 and 7, 193 to 249; Grades 4 and 5, 145 to 174.

If your speed is slow, you're nothing to be ashamed of. Remember, no matter which level you found yourself to be in, you can improve—and the sky's the limit.

President Kennedy, for example, claims to read his mail at the unheard of speed of 1,200 words a minute. Winston Churchill once could read a book as fast as he could turn the pages; and former U.S. president Theodore Roosevelt used to read three books a day.

What slows you down? Well, do you read words or do you read sentences? If you concentrate on each word, you'll probably find that you have to start a paragraph all over again to understand it.

The trick is to try pushing yourself a bit faster than you think you can handle. A real speed-reader grasps whole paragraphs. Instead of words, try concentrating on meaning.

Start Now

We all find it difficult to change comfortable ways of doing things. But, believe me, it's much easier to try changing now. The average adult, for example, stops 30 times on a page and backtracks 11 times while reading 100 words.

This is the fault which the experts call "sub-vocalizing" or trying to say each word to oneself. If you're trying to improve (and I hope you are already), you tried grasping whole groups of words in this paragraph.

What is the average reading speed in Canada? Well, the plain truth is that the average Canadian adult reads on about the same level as a Grade 6 or 7 student. Both read between 193 and 249 words a minute.

Where does this leave you? If you're a fast reader, I'd say you have a powerful tool

Test Your Speed

What's your reading speed? This column is 800 words long. See how long it takes you to read it, then check your time against the following scale:

Time	Level
2 1/2 minutes	College graduate
3 minutes	High school grad.
3 1/2 minutes	Grade 8
4 minutes	Grades 6-7
5 minutes	Grades 4-5
5 1/2 minutes	Average adult which you should start sharpening right now. If you are slow, there's no time like the present to start improving.

Just try pushing yourself for one week, then time yourself again. (Don't forget that you'll probably read homework more slowly than a mystery novel.) I think you'll surprise yourself.

The Letter Game

Several friends have written to ask help in deciphering letter codes which they found on the back of envelopes addressed to them.

This one comes from two friends in Petrolia, Ont.: TIDKWSWAKFMM. Can anyone offer a solution? And this code popped up in Dartmouth, N.S.—HIAKPIASLF.

My own guess on the second one would be: Help, I am being kept prisoner in a school lunch factory, but surely that must be wrong. Can anyone give us the correct version?

Back to Smudges

How many of you figured out the question we asked last night? It involved three men sitting on a train as it went into a tunnel. When the train came back into daylight, each had a smudge on his forehead.

A passing stranger asked each man to put up his right hand if he could see a smudge on another forehead. Each one did, of course. He then asked if any one of them was smart enough to figure out whether he had a smudge or not. All looked thoughtfully at each other.

After a brief pause, one of the travellers announced firmly that he had a smudge. The trick is to figure out how this chap—call him Mr. A—knew he was marked.

Well, his reasoning went this way: "Either I have a smudge or I don't have one. Assuming that I don't have one, B and C would both have their hands up because the other one was marked."

"They would know I didn't have a smudge, so they'd know the other fellow must have seen a smudge on them. But since they haven't come to that conclusion I must be marked."

This story, which pops up in a variety of forms, is probably the granddaddy of all the logic puzzles. Memorize it now and you'll be astounding friends with your brilliance for the rest of your life!

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Daredevil motorcyclist Keenan Wynn just gave some advice to would-be daredevils: "Be an 'Oh-Oh-rider and driver,'" he says. "When the speedometer climbs around 100, say 'Oh-Oh!'"

"I recently won my first motorcycle trophy since 1959—but I won't drive sports cars," he said. "Each year I ride a little slower and a little slower. I've had my accident."

Wynn believes that Ernie Kovacs would only have been injured if he'd been driving the Rolls-Royce instead of his light car. "The Rolls would have knocked the pole down instead of the pole knocking the car down," he said.

Thirty-one years of motorcycling have sharpened his reflexes. "For example," he said, "If somebody spills a glass of booze at a table where I'm sitting—I never get wet!"

The one-time Princess Alf Khan—Rita Hayworth—is giving great tone to the Summit Hotel these days, running a week there in solitary magnificence. "The George Raft Story" movie neatly avoids telling the real name of the blonde beauty who was the real love of his life: which all the hippies of 20 years ago knew anyway.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL — Richard Burton and Roddy McDowall, after waiting around Rome for months, have finally begun work in "Cleopatra".... Tony Quinn bought a Manhattan town house, will settle here permanently.

Producer Stanley Kramer asked Carol Channing to join his "Mad, Mad World" film cast, but she'll be working with George Burns.... Backers of "Kiss Me, Kate," which opened 13 years ago, are still receiving dividends—just got their 49th.... Shirley MacLaine's movie, "My Geisha," was filmed in Japan—including the scenes showing Hollywood.

EARL'S PEARLS: Lefty Hulsbard said it long ago: "Happiness is a Dutch treat."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A chorus girl showed off a bracelet she'd been given and singer V. Velasco meowed, "It's handy to get it that way. Instead of eating a whole box of Crackerjacks."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The real torture rack for women is the one holding the size eight dresses.

That's earl, brother.

Earl Wilson

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 30-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia, and of the second question a Fragment Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Connie Freed, age 9, of Lancaster, Pa., for her question:

How Does a Hummingbird Beat His Wings?

Most hummingbirds fly south to spend the winter. But Andy has a hummingbird friend who lives in the garden all year long. So we have some first-hand information to answer this question. First, Andy read about hummers in seven different books. Then he went outdoors to watch his own favorite hummer in action.

Hank is an Anna hummingbird, just as pretty and as cute as can be. His glistening back is greenish bronze and around his tiny throat he wears a wide bib of shiny ruby red. Best of all, Hank and Andy have an understanding. If Andy keeps the hummingbird feeding station filled with a formula of honey and water, once in a while—just once in a while—Hank will sit still just long enough to be admired.

Most of the time he is as busy as a darting sunbeam. He flashes straight up and straight down and hovers in

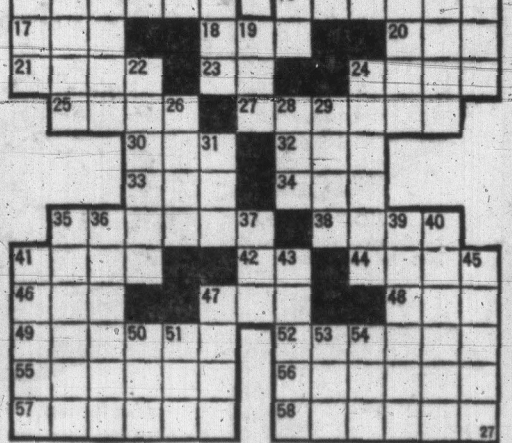

Move in Oval-Shaped Loops

He beats his wings in oval loops which slope at an angle to the ground. And he can swing his wings around in backward or forward loops—which is why he is the only bird in the world who can fly backwards as well as forward. He flies somewhat like an insect and he squeaks like a mouse.

Hank is called a hummingbird because of the whirring noise he makes when he flies or hovers in the air. Those flashing wings beat so fast that they make the air buzz with vibrations. Sometimes, especially when the formula in the feeding station is all gone, he swoops close to Andy's head and his pixie friend gets a buzz in the ear.

There are about 750 different hummers and they live in the New World. They are the smallest birds in the world and the papa hummers look like living jewels. The scientists were thinking of their whirring wings when they gave the hummers the family name Trochilidae—a word which means a turning wheel.

Daylight Thieves Get $500 Loot

NANAIMO—Thieves who broke into the Eagles' Club on Bastion Street at noon Tuesday escaped with more than $500 in cash and cheques.

They forced an inside office door while Robert Morgan, secretary, was away for lunch. A barber in an adjoining shop heard noises in the office, but thought Mr. Morgan was responsible.

"Street door was not touched, and the theft was not observed by passersby."

It is believed the thieves had made a careful study of the office prior to the crime, and that a hotel room across Bastion Street could have been used for observation.

Mr. Morgan did not notice the loss immediately Tuesday afternoon, and it was feared the thieves could have caught a 2 p.m. ferry sailing for the mainland.

Air Force Day Off

COMOX—Popular Air Force Day program, which has attracted thousands of persons to RCAF Station Comox in previous years, will not be held this year.

Group Capt. R. F. Miller, commanding officer, said the 1963 show will be "bigger and better."

Observance for the coming summer was called off because of extensive renovations which will be under way on aircraft parking and taxiing facilities.

Early Church Start

NANAIMO—Work is expected to start in the spring on the first stage of a second Anglican church for the city and district.

It will include the church proper and an adjoining section which will house the Sunday school, and will cost an estimated $75,000.

A church hall to cost $65,000 will be built at a later date beside the Sunday school.

Site of the new church is on Departure Bay Road near Estevan. The church will accommodate 300 worshippers, and the Sunday school and proposed hall 200 persons each.

On Wrong Side

NANAIMO—John Denham McLean, who died of injuries suffered in a car crash near Cassidy at midnight Jan. 19, was driving on the wrong side of the road when the accident occurred, a coroner's jury decided here Tuesday.

The car driven by Mr. McLean collided with another driven by Benjamin James Anderson of Duncan. Mr. McLean could not be moved until a wrecker righted his car, and he was dead on arrival at Nanaimo General Hospital.

Both men were alone at the time of the crash.

Three off-duty policemen came close to being eyewitnesses of the accident. They were Staff Sgt. Earl Sarsiat, Sgt. R. Guy and Sgt. I. Fisher, all of the RCMP, who took charge, called assistance and helped the victims.

Labor Award Returned

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mr. Justice F. K. Collins of the Supreme Court Tuesday ordered a federal arbitration award which reduces certain longshore gangs by one man sent back to the federal board of clarification.

Five deep-sea locals of the Longshoremen's Union sought the order, claiming one interpretation could affect 102 men in Vancouver, New Westminster, Victoria, Chemainus and Port Alberni locals.

The Shipping Federation of B.C. agreed the award should be clarified.

Vision Checked

NANAIMO—Junior members of Nanaimo District Fish and Game Association will be examined tonight at their Mount Benson headquarters by a "vision team" from the Upper Island Optometric Association.

Tests will be given in connection with the examination.

New PTA Work Urged to Draw More Members

Parent Teacher associations from southern Vancouver Island were urged on Wednesday to find new ways to make PTA work more interesting in order to attract larger membership.

At the regional meeting of island councils in the Ingham Hotel, R. T. Kipling, principal of Oak Bay Junior High School, said that in the past PTAs had done invaluable work for the schools but that membership was suffering due to the growth in the number of outside interests. Parents no longer had the time to devote to PTA work, and the burden of the associations' work often fell on a few members only.

30 GROUPS REPRESENTED
Mr. Kipling was speaking at an afternoon symposium on "The PTA—It's Work and Objectives." He dealt with the relationship between school and PTA.

At the same symposium, Mrs. A. B. Thompson, south Island regional representative, spoke on the relationship between PTA and regional representatives, and Mrs. H. L. Steves of Vancouver on the relationship between PTA and the B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation.

The conference was attended by 114 delegates representing 20 local associations from Greater Victoria, Cowichan, Sooke, and the Saanich peninsula.

At an evening symposium, PTA activities in the fields of education, child welfare, leadership training, and international projects were discussed.

'Pay Up' And Reap Benefits

Victoria will have to work if the 1962 tourist year is to be a success, ex-mayor Percy Scurrah said Wednesday.

"There's so much apathy. The business isn't just going to come to us, we're competing with the world," he told the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Pointing the finger at local business which had in the past reaped all the benefits and put up no expense, Mr. Scurrah promised changes.

"We (the Publicity Board) are following the plan that Hawaii uses," he said, "by assessing the hotels, motels, stores, etc., for a sum we feel to be fair."

FLAT RATE PER ROOM
The ex-mayor broke this down for the hotels and motels as a flat rate for each room or unit.

He said the Publicity Board had asked for a budget of $76,000, but it had not yet been passed. The lion's share of $50,000 will come from the city, he added.

He said the ferries had been asked for $3 on each landing, but only the Black Ball had answered.

Under the plan, retail stores will be asked to contribute at the rate of $1.50 per employee. All commercial outlets, from the major department stores down, will be approached.

"I have also asked Harold Husband at VMD for $2,000, and Yarrows the same," Mr. Scurrah confided.

Mr. Scurrah said the up-Island municipalities were expected to contribute between $10,000 and $12,000 to the overall publicity cost.

He was presented with a plaque at the meeting for his "many years of excellent service to the city." He is an honorary senator of the Jaycees.

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1962—PAGE 17

... HERE ... AND THERE

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

I often wonder if our grandfathers' beards were responsible for the power and authority they wielded in the Victorian household.

The men who are now growing Centennial beards have an unmistakable air of authority and the utterances that come from behind the foliage seem almost beyond question.

A friend of mine weakened under family pressure and shaved off his Centennial beard. Alas, his air of authority has gone and I am no longer awed by his opinions. When the black beard wagged, I felt I was hearing the very last word on affairs of the day. Without the beard he looks so mild and reasonable, I don't feel he even expects me to agree with him!

Talking of beards—there will be plenty of them at Barkerville this summer when the B.C. Recreation Department re-enacts the rousing concerts that were given in the old Theatre Royal way back in the 80s and 90s.

The Theatre Royal is being reconstructed, as faithfully as possible, and the men and women on stage will wear the costumes of the period.

The only historic relic the theatre won't have is a bar. Tea and coffee will be served.

How old is 1926?

Mr. Justice C. H. O'Halloran, 72-year-old Appeal Court judge, doesn't think it is really so long ago. When Victoria lawyer William R. McIntyre referred to a "historic" 1926 law case Wednesday afternoon, he observed:

"I expect that sounds to you like something that happened way back in the time of William the Conqueror."

No visitor to Vancouver Island this summer will be overcharged, says Ian McCaul who takes over today as co-ordinator of the Centennial and Century 21 accommodation centre in the Black Ball Building.

"Prices will be controlled and there will be no hanky-panky," he declared. "Furthermore, there will be shelter for everyone. We have 3,400 hotel and motel units and more than 2,000 rentals in private homes will be listed."

Mr. McCaul has plenty of experience in this line. He worked on expediting for the Festival of Britain in London from 1948 to 1951 and found accommodation for visitors over a radius of 50 miles from the festival.

More recently he was secretary-manager of the B.C. Agricultural Association.

Ardent collector of old phonograph records is Harry Heyd of 1874 Ventura.

He would like to hear from other collectors who have Paul Whiteman records of the late 20s featuring the late great trumpeter and cornettist Bix Biederbecke.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Thieves kicked in the front door to get into Why Sales and Service Station, Gorge and Garbally, during the night.

They pried open a cigarette machine with a jemmy and stole the cash box containing an undetermined amount of silver.

J. R. Campbell, former editor of the Daily Worker and a leading figure in Great Britain's Communist party, will address a public meeting Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Williams Hall, 749 Broughton.

Mr. Campbell's subject will be "Britain, Canada and the European Common Market." He currently is engaged in a cross-Canada lecture tour.

Howard A. Mann, chairman of the National Harbors Board, will address a joint meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club next Thursday, noon in the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Mann, who was a member of the Royal Commission on Transportation and, prior to his present appointment, manager of the Maritime Transportation Commission, will speak on "Ports and the Community."

Studio Group of Victoria Musical Art Society will meet Friday evening at 8 at the home of Miss Margery Vaughan, 2761 Roseberry Street. The program will consist of a talk on gramophone form by Miss Florence Miller illustrated by Carol Wootton playing the first movement of Mozart's A Major Concerto.

LEAVE PORCH LIGHTS BRIGHT, MOTHERS ON MARCH TONIGHT

For one hour tonight, starting at 6.30, some 2,400 marching mothers will canvass the Greater Victoria area on behalf of the Poliomyelitis and Rehabilitation Foundation of B.C.

Last year local mothers collected $38,000 in their porchlight campaign for the relief of polio victims. This year the provincial goal is $300,000.

CHRISTIAN UNITY will be discussed at an inter-denominational meeting in Christ Church Memorial Hall tonight at 8 by Miss Mary Rendell, only woman delegate to represent the Anglican Church of Canada at the World Council of Churches in New Delhi last November. Born and educated in Vancouver, Miss Rendell now lives in Toronto as executive secretary to the Dominion board of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Anglican Church. She is on a cross-Canada speaking tour.

Nominations Call Issued

An immediate call for nominations for a federal election candidate was issued Wednesday at the founding meeting of Esquimalt-Saanich New Democratic Party Association.

The NDP is attempting to nominate a full slate of British Columbia candidates by the end of February.

The founding meeting, at Douglas CCF Hall, disbanded the former CCF organization. Elected chairman of the NDP association was Geoffrey Mitchell. Vice-chairman is Dr. J. M. Thomas.

Elected executive members were Glenn Priestley, Al Carle, Norman Finmore and Mrs. Isabelle Reader.

Tracking Dog Evidence Gets Court's Study

Should evidence acquired by the use of police tracking dogs be used in criminal proceedings?

This point of law will be reviewed by a majority of judges of the B.C. Appeal Court, Mr. Justice C. H. O'Halloran announced here Wednesday afternoon.

At present, the evidence afforded by police tracking dogs is excluded by reason of a 1925 high court ruling in the case of Rex vs. White.

William R. McIntyre, representing the B.C. attorney-general asked the Appeal Court to review this 37-year-old ruling.

Mr. Justice O'Halloran, Mr. Justice H. W. Davey and Mr. Justice F. A. Sheppard assented, with the provision that it be done by a majority—five or more of the eight Appeal Court judges—at a later date.

NO NEW TRIAL

At the same time, the three judges rejected an application from Mr. McIntyre for the right to call a new trial of Ronald Dale Haas, acquitted in Supreme Court on Oct. 13 on a charge of breaking and entering.

They ruled that this would be unfair to an acquitted man. The not-guilty verdict was returned by a 12-man jury after Mr. Justice J. Brown ruled that the evidence obtained by use of an RCMP tracking dog could not be admitted in view of the 1925 high court ruling.

In the Appeal Court Wednesday, Mr. McIntyre appealed against Mr. Justice Brown's ruling. He added, however, that if the appeal judges directed a new trial, the attorney-general would take "no further proceedings" against the acquitted man.

PRINCIPLE AT STAKE

He said the attorney-general was concerned only with the principle of what could be admitted as evidence in criminal proceedings.

"Your proposal shocks me," answered Mr. Justice Davey.

"The attorney-general is asking for a jury's verdict of acquittal to be set aside and a new trial ordered. Then, in the same breath, he says he will not proceed with a new trial."

"This means that the acquitted man would have no opportunity of defending himself against fresh accusations," he would be made a guinea-pig for an experiment in law and the charge would be left hanging over his head for life."

"I had no intention of making any improper suggestion, My Lord," said Mr. McIntyre.

"And I am not directing any personal criticism at you," answered Mr. Justice Davey. "But I must draw attention to the possible consequences of the attorney-general's proposal."

BID REJECTED

Mr. Justice O'Halloran then rejected the application for the right to hold a new trial, but invited Mr. McIntyre to present a motion that the Rex vs. White case be reviewed.

Mr. McIntyre agreed. Before the court adjourned, Mr. Justice O'Halloran thanked Victoria lawyer James Proudfoot for making a voluntary appearance on behalf of the acquitted man.

Mr. Proudfoot defended Haas at his trial in Supreme Court, but said he had "no instructions" to appear for him in the Appeal Court.

UBC Leaders To Be Guests Of College

Chancellor of UBC, Mrs. F. M. Ross and retiring president Dr. Norman MacKenzie will be honored at a reception by the faculty and administration of Victoria College on Tuesday.

The reception is being held to mark Mrs. Ross' election as chancellor and Dr. MacKenzie's retirement as president of the university.

Mayor R. B. Wilson was honored at a dinner given by the administration on Wednesday night on the occasion of his retirement as chairman of the University Development Board.

Expected to succeed Mayor Wilson as chairman is Harold B. Elworthy, of Island Tug and Barge, who has been nominated to fill the board vacancy by the college. His appointment will come up for ratification by Victoria College Council at the next meeting in two weeks.

Mayor Wilson, who headed the successful $2,500,000 fund drive, was the first permanent chairman of the development board. He resigned due to the pressure of business as mayor.

January Cool But Still Above Normal

Cloudy skies with the possibility of light showers tonight and Friday were predicted today by weatherman William Mackie.

"It's going to be a little cooler, but not like it was two weeks ago," he said. "Minimum overnight will be 40 degrees, and the maximum Friday 50 degrees."

Winds will range from light to southeasterly at 15 miles per hour, he said, "and there will be a clearing trend toward the weekend."

LOW OF 16.9

Despite chilly weather earlier in the month, the mean temperature for January was 40.4 degrees, or .6 degree higher than normal, Mr. Mackie said.

Maximum temperature was 54.7 degrees Tuesday, two days ago, and the minimum of 20 degrees occurred Jan. 19. Minimum at grass level was 16.9 degrees Jan. 21.

Rainfall was 2.81 inches, or 1.09 inches below normal and there was 5 inch of snow, or 4.4 inches below normal. Total precipitation for the month was 2.87 inches, or 1.53 inches below normal. There were 12 days with measurable precipitation, seven less than usual.

SUNSHINE UP

Sunshine total for the month was 91.3 hours, 21.3 hours above normal, and the average windspeed 11.7 miles per hour, or .7 below the average.

Mr. Mackie said the temperature Jan. 19 was the lowest since Jan. 4, 1959, when the thermometer dropped to 14 degrees.

Rainfall was the lowest for January in five years, and the month will be listed as the ninth sunniest January since recording began 49 years ago.

He said the gallery has grown within a decade from a small and struggling organization to "one of the top half dozen galleries in Canada."

Present membership of about 1,200 is the highest among all Canadian galleries on a per capita basis.

Gallery curator Colin Graham pointed out that this year the gallery was sponsoring three major art exhibitions as its contribution to centennial year events. He added that the gallery paid $2,700 in taxes to the city last year.

DISPROPORTIONATE

However, Ald. A. I. Curtis said that a $4,000 grant out of a total $7,400 requested of the four Greater Victoria municipalities would be a disproportionate share of the burden for the city to bear.

Committee referred the request to intermunicipal committee with a suggestion that the total $7,400 grant be shared on mutually agreeable basis.

Prison Risked To Aid Daughter

Aged Pole Receives Leniency

By HAL JONES

An elderly man made the first court appearance of his life here today because he wanted to help his daughter behind the Iron Curtain.

Samuel Turega, 828 Courtney, who gave his age as "over 65," admitted in city police court to making a false statement to the city's welfare department to get more assistance than he was entitled to.

A sympathetic court listened as Turega, who came here from his native Poland 14 years ago, told—through an interpreter—how he needed the money to send to his daughter who had just "come back from Siberia."

EARNINGS' HIDDEN

F. A. Davidson, assistant administrator Victoria city welfare department, said on May 1 last year the defendant had received social assistance from his department after declaring he had received no income the previous month.

Subsequently on Dec. 20, when an application was being taken from him for old-age pension, it was discovered he had earnings he had not declared in May.

When questioned about this he said he had not declared his April income because the previous time he had declared it, his social assistance had been cut accordingly.

Mr. Davidson said the undeclared income was $20.50, resulting in Turega receiving $11.50 more than he was entitled to.

FROM SIBERIA

Through the interpreter Turega told Magistrate William Ostler he had sent his earnings to his daughter who had just come out of Siberia.

"I have never done anything like this before and wouldn't have done it now if it wasn't for the conditions in that country (Poland)," he said.

As he made the explanation, Turega pulled out a snapshot of his daughter and showed it to the magistrate.

"It is easy to explain your motives for doing this," the magistrate told him.

PLACED ON BOND

"Of course people in this country have sympathy for people who are in the unfortunate position your daughter is in—but you must not abuse the privileges and generosity of your adopted country."

"You are an old man and I can understand your paternal affection swayed your judgment in this case. Otherwise you are a good citizen," he said.

Magistrate Ostler gave Turega a suspended sentence and placed him on bond of $250 to be of good behavior for six months.

Little for Culture, Plenty for Highways

Provincial government was lashed today for being niggardly to cultural development of the province and generous to highway development.

Greater Victoria Art Gallery president Hugh Stephen told city finance committee the organization has had to dig into its endowment fund for operating revenue but the province only gives it a $1,500 grant.

JUST ONE MILE

"It makes me mad as a citizen of this province, that the cost of only one mile of highway would support our gallery for 14 or 15 years," he said.

"What sort of people are we that we spend millions on blacktop but for cultural development we get only $1,500?"

Mr. Stephen appealed for a boost in the city's annual grant from $2,960 last year to $4,000 to help with the gallery's budget of $27,000.

He said the gallery has grown within a decade from a

CITY HALL 'ONLY REAL RELIC' FOR CENTENNIAL EXHIBITION

City Hall vaults and storage yards will be checked for items of historical interest to see if there are enough to form an exhibit at the Junior Chamber of Commerce centennial exhibition this spring.

Receptions committee asked for the study before deciding whether the city should rent a booth at the fair. Total costs for an exhibit would run about $1,000.

"If we have enough relics, it might make a very interesting exhibit," mused Ald. Arthur Dowell. "We have many old pictures, old wooden water mains and such things."

Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson said the only real relic "is our City Hall but we can hardly put that in a booth."

Shelter for CD Asked by Oak Bay

Underground, Blast-Proof Bunker Proposed, to Cost About $13,500

Funds to construct a blast-proof underground bunker to house Civil Defence services will be sought by Oak Bay, its CD committee decided Wednesday.

The committee meeting named Reeve George Murdoch as chairman for 1962.

It is proposed to build a shelter to protect local CD administrative and training headquarters at an estimated cost of $13,500, most of which would be borne by the senior governments, it is hoped.

Municipal engineer and Civil Defence co-ordinator Geoffrey White said the proposal might speed construction of a new public works building and the bunker would then form part of its foundation.

FIRST IN DISTRICT

Suggested size of the shelter is 80 by 20 feet.

It would be the first blast-proof bunker constructed in the area and the first structure designed by a local municipality for this purpose.

Mr. White pointed out that such a bunker would be protection against blast and fall-out as long as a nuclear explosion were at some distance. The proposed structure would not withstand a direct hit.

Some blast craters have been measured at 150 feet in depth, he said.

POWER GENERATOR

The committee will also ask for a $1,150 portable standby power generator for Civil Defence use at the municipal hall or wherever headquarters is finally located.

A $5,915 budget for 1962 was approved, including $2,795 for clothing and training gear and special lecturer's fees, and $2,115 for salaries, office supplies and advertising.

The local target of 27 volunteers by March has already been exceeded by six people, but an additional 60 CD workers will be needed by the end of the year, Mr. White reported.

LOOKS TO SAANICH

Oak Bay Supports Road Job

First step toward rebuilding a mile of Foul Bay Road on its approach to the university district was approved Wednesday night by Oak Bay parks-works committee.

Committee members recommended approval by council for resurfacing, widening to 44 feet, curbing sidewalks on both sides and mercury vapor lighting along the 14 blocks between Fort Street and Lansdowne.

The project would be a joint undertaking with Saanich municipality and costs—estimated at $150,000—would be split 50-50.

Saanich works committee has yet to consider the proposal, the result of preliminary discussion and planning between engineers Geoffrey White of Oak Bay and Neville Life of Saanich.

Previous agreement had been reached on the matter of cost-sharing, however.

Mr. White said it is possible the project would be undertaken this year, but policy on this would not be known until after departmental estimate time later in the season.

Welfare Director Wins Promotion

Promotion of Vancouver Island Welfare Director Robert J. Burnham to assistant director of the B.C. department of social welfare was announced today.

Mr. Burnham, who takes over the post today, replaces Marie Riddell, who resigned at the end of last year for personal reasons.

He joined the department in 1944 as an attendant at Branigan Lake Boys' Industrial School.

In 1957 he became regional welfare director at Nelson, and was appointed director of the Vancouver Island region in July last year.

ASK The TIMES

Q. Why does the moon govern the date on which Easter may fall? B.W.T.

A. Ever since Easter was appointed by the church as a holy day there was a sharp difference of opinion as to whether it was the crucifixion or resurrection or both which should be celebrated. At the first Nicene council of A.D. 325, convened by Constantine, it was decreed that Easter should be observed on the first Sunday after the full moon following the vernal equinox to be fixed each year at Alexandria, then the centre of astronomical science. Though the time of the vernal equinox varied according to variations in longitude, later it was set arbitrarily at March 21. Further difficulties were presented by the fact that the Gregorian calendar was not adopted universally. Many Eastern Orthodox groups continued to follow the older Julian calendar and could not celebrate Easter with the western world.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve problems of legal problems. It will attempt to get a writer on its staff, or an expert, to answer questions submitted to a specialist.

Try Disposable Gloves To Protect Your Hands

By PENNY SAVER

There are dozens of jobs around the house that are hard on hands and a dozen reasons why a woman should take particular care that her hands and nails are always attractive.

Saw something today that will be a big help. Polyethylene utility gloves, that have any number of uses. You can wear them when you're gardening, for doing dishes, when tinting your hair, or painting walls and waxing furniture. They prevent dirt and grime getting into the pores and they also prevent chapping.

Made of a clear plastic, a package of five pairs is only 69 cents. They can be disposed of after using or, under normal circumstances, saved and used again.

Does Dad smoke a pipe? Then he'll be glad to hear about the chrome racks I've seen. They're on suction cups, designed for holding pipes in the car and assembled in such a way that the pipe is set lengthwise, so the tobacco won't spill out. He'll love you for this. It's only 98 cents.

An amateur at cards? Me too! But I really do love to play. My main problem, and possibly yours, is to hold a handful of cards gracefully. Plastic card holders I've seen will solve the problem though. Made in sets of four, they're in colors of red, yellow, blue and green sprinkled with gold glitter. Price for a set is $1.85.

If you've ever been locked out of your car or your home you'll appreciate the value of the magnet key cases I've seen. Made of metal in a choice of red, blue or green, these box-like cases have slide tops and are attached to powerful little magnets that will not come loose. Case can be attached to the underside of your car, under a metal railing outside your house, or almost anywhere out of sight. A mere 89 cents takes care of the extra keys and insures you against being "locked out."

Interested in where I was shopping today? Call me and I'll be glad to tell you. Penny, EV 2-3131.

DEAR ABBY...

Tell Her What, Lady?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I live across the street from a high school girl. She is a quiet girl, but I understand that she's the type you have to watch. I see her coming home from school every afternoon. The same boy walks her home. I notice that they walk down the street holding hands. Then they stand in front of her house and talk. She looks up at him like a sick calf. They have stood there and talked for as long as an hour. I can see trouble starting. Don't you think somebody ought to tell her mother? I was not spying. I was cleaning my Venetian blinds. NEIGHBOR LADY.

DEAR LADY: You must have the cleanest Venetian blinds in town. Now go to work on your mind!

DEAR ABBY: What is your definition of maturity?

STUDENT

DEAR STUDENT: This is maturity: To be able to stick with a job until it's finished; to be able to bear an injustice without wanting to get even;

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

If Your Thighs Are Outsize, Nothing to Do But Exercise

Thousands of women are now taking part in my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon for a loss of 20 pounds. With the 8-week goal in mind, they have incentive.

—they know that it won't last forever!

Actually, it is best to reduce over a specified period and to take each day as it comes; you're less likely to become discouraged.

It's wise, too, to exercise while dieting. The exercises today are corrective to the flabby inner and outer thigh—one of the first indications that early youth is gone; these are ideal for those of you on the 8-week routine—and others as well.

Stand tall with your left side toward the wall and your left hand on the wall for support. Raise your right leg forward—upward with a stiff knee. Move the leg to side position at the same height, and then return to place. Continue. After a while turn your right side toward the wall and place your right hand on the wall. Raise your left leg forward—upward with a stiff knee. Move it to the side and lower to place. Continue.

This exercise is for the same figure defect. Stand with your back against the wall, arms at sides. Press the palms of the hands against the wall for support, arms slightly away from the body and straight. Bend the right knee up in front of the body. Keeping the knee in this position, swing it out to the right as far as you comfortably can. Swing it back and to the left as far as comfortable. Continue, slowly. Return to place.

After a while, bend the left knee and swing it as far to the left as comfortable and then as far to the right and continue. Return to place.

Exercise can make great improvement in the beauty of the thighs. The truth is that every woman should take preventative exercises for a flabby or bulging thighline from the age of 30 on.

If you would like to join thousands of other women on my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon, which gives you a loss of up to 20 pounds, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon booklet to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

This beauty qualifies as a leader of the beauty parade. This exercise, described in Josephine Lowman's column today, will improve the appearance of your thighs.

Put Frills on Shirt for Sister to Wear

Dear Eunice: "My boy outgrows his white shirts before they are worn out. Is there any way I can make a boy's shirt look right for his younger sister?"

Mrs. REF.

Dear Mrs. REF.: There are several ideas you could use that will delight your little girl and get double wear from a shirt. One of the easiest changes is to sew several rows of ruffled edging on each side of the centre band.

You could also use colored rick-rack or decorative embroidered banding. Use your own ideas but be sure they are feminine.

Paris Complements Present Styles; Skirts Up, Down

PARIS (UPI) — Guy Laroche joined Pierre Cardin by featuring longer skirts in his fashion presentations at the Paris showings.

His spring styles looked modish without really outdressing the type of clothes women already have in their wardrobes.

Madame Gres showed a new "windblown line," accentuating bias-cut skirts, coats thrust to the back, and a "poop deck" silhouette. But she varied skirt length.

Rather than trying to cinch a woman's waist, plaster the clothes to her midriff and bare her kneecaps, Laroche designed spring styles wearable for a woman with plump legs or a "spare tire."

Auxiliary Gives Needed Articles, Volunteer Hours to Hospital

A year of hard work, successfully concluded, was shown in reports given at an annual meeting of the Royal Jubilee Hospital Women's Auxiliary, held in the Nurses' Home on Wednesday afternoon.

Retiring president, Mrs. D. C. F. MacArthur, was in the chair.

Treasurer's report, compiled by Mrs. C. C. Riach and read by Mrs. F. D. Lee, showed general receipts as $4,849.94, and disbursements, $5,086.14.

Presented to the hospital during the year were footstools, a circulatory electric bed, two baby scales, four Lakeside tables, two suction pumps, five stainless steel tables and an aluminium wagon. A bursary was given to a graduating nurse and $2,000 added to a reserve fund earmarked for furnishings in the new hospital wing, bringing total in this fund to more than $8,000.

Combined general membership and reserve funds showed a total of $13,730.97.

Money-making events included a bridge tea, tag day, coffee party, raffle, profits from showcase of knitted articles maintained in the maternity wing, sale of novelties and plants, used stamps and baby photos; television rentals and a student nurses' gift bar.

Members gave 1,732 volunteer hours to make 59,026 dressings for the hospital's central supply room and 518 hours making up packages of supplies for the maternity wing.

Mrs. J. C. B. Keane announced a total membership of 174 with six new members welcomed; Mrs. W. G. Thorpe reported $2,559.47 spent on gifts and supplies to the hospital; Mrs. F. E. Loveday said $438.96 was made from the showcase and $70.79 from the gift bar.

Mrs. H. G. Southin was installed as new president. Other officers are Mrs. G. Coffey, first vice-president; Mrs. L. G. Hamilton, second vice-president; Mrs. A. Deas, recording secretary; Mrs. Riach, treasurer, and Mrs. E. J. Harwood, corresponding secretary.

Special guests from the hospital and from other groups in the city included Dr. Murray Anderson, J. L. Hobbs, Mrs. Leslie Macdonell, Mrs. Kenneth Scace, Mrs. Vahce, Mrs. P. W. Semenchuk, Mrs. C. W. McCarthy, Mrs. C. F. Lawrence, Mrs. F. W. Akerman and Mrs. W. M. Martin.

Following the meeting there was served with Miss M. E. Thompson, director of nursing, and Mrs. George Masters presiding.

OF PERSONAL INTEREST

State Dinner Postponed

Third State Dinner arranged for this evening in Government House has been postponed until Wednesday, February 7, because of the sudden death of Mr. George Hobbs, member of the Legislative Assembly for Revelstoke. This will be the last State Dinner arranged to mark opening of the present session of the Legislature. His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor will be the host.

Hmmm! You Lie About Your Age?

OTTAWA (UPI)—Ladies who don't tell the truth about their age may be liable to "fraud" charges according to a report presented to Parliament Wednesday.

The annual report of the auditor-general of Canada, tabled in the Commons, includes criticism of the leniency of the government in overlooking the traditional prerogative of the ladies' inaccuracy about their age.

According to the report, this enabled one woman to hold her government job from age 65 to 72 and earn some $35,000 in salaries and an extra $1,120 a year in pensions which she was not entitled to under the regulations.

The report said the woman understated her age by 13 years when she joined the government service in 1945.

When asked for proof of her age in 1958 in connection with a pension plan she claimed parish records had been destroyed by fire. When this was not accepted she produced a birth certificate which showed that she should have retired in September, 1955.

According to the auditor-general, the lady, who remained nameless, did not retire until December, 1960, with a pension of $683 a year—calculated to her actual retirement level of 1955.

Action by the federal cabinet later allowed her to continue working until she is 72, at which time she would be eligible for a pension of $1,703 a year.

The report said that two months after the lady in question retired, an "order-in-council" or decision by the cabinet suspended an order which demanded that the woman return the $25,156 she earned between 1955 and 1960 "in the period of illegal employment." Another cabinet decision "legalized" the woman's service beyond her retirement age and this meant that instead of the $683 a year pension, she was entitled to $1,482 a year. This wasn't the end of the government regulations "can be interpreted."

Byelection Speculation Hums

Byelection speculation began today after Wednesday's unexpected death of MLA George Hobbs.

After expressions of condolence and regret from Premier Bennett, Opposition Leader Robert Strachan, Liberal leader Ray Perrault and Social Credit House leader Attorney General Robert Bonner, the legislature adjourned at 2:15 p.m. until this afternoon.

Mr. Hobbs, the New Democratic Party-CCF member for Revelstoke, was elected in 1960's general vote.

The last provincial byelection was in 1958, when Trail elected Donald Brothers to fill the vacancy caused by jailing of former forests minister Robert Sommers.

CLASH POSSIBLE
It is likely the Revelstoke vote will be called this fall, and it could clash with a federal campaign.

First step toward a by-election is formal notification that a vacancy exists to the Speaker. This must be done in writing by two MLAs.

After that the speaker issues a request for a byelection warrant to the deputy provincial secretary. The byelection must be called within six months of that request.

Mr. Hobbs won handily in 1960. He took 1,417 of the 3,245 votes cast; runner-up Arvid Lundell, the Social Credit who had held the seat, polled a mere 945.

REGRET EXPRESSED

At Wednesday's brief legislative sitting Premier Bennett made a motion "expressing sincere regret at the death of George Hobbs."

It asked the Speaker to convey to the Hobbs family "the condolences and sincere sympathy of the members of this House."

In a statement outside the House, Mr. Bennett added: "Mr. Hobbs has enjoyed the respect of his fellow members for the earnest and diligent manner in which he sought to serve the best interests of the citizens, not only of his constituency but of this province as a whole."

He added: "The public life of the province is the poorer for his untimely passing at so early an age." (Mr. Hobbs was 54.)

'SENSE OF PURPOSE'

Mr. Bonner told the House: "Like the big man he was in all ways... he sought only the proper end and proper dispensation without any regard for party."

"He brought to this House a pronounced sense of purpose and a pronounced sense of humor."

Mr. Strachan made a moving tribute.

"George Hobbs was a happy man. He had known the bread of adversity and the water of affliction."

"But he was still a happy man."

Mr. Strachan said truth was Mr. Hobbs' "shield and buckler."

"He was big physically. He was also large in his mental and spiritual concepts. George Hobbs had a wise and understanding heart."

Mr. Perrault said Mr. Hobbs had been "a good neighbor."

"We saw in George Hobbs a man of deep principle and we were impressed by this."

BENNETT TRIBUTE

Murphy 'Architect Of Sacred Success'

Premier Bennett paid tribute to former Social Credit League president Noel Murphy, who died in a Vancouver hospital Wednesday, as one of the chief architects of his party's success in B.C.

Mr. Bennett learned of Mr. Murphy's death from cancer minutes before going into the afternoon sitting of the legislature, at which he expressed regrets at the death, also Wednesday, of New Democratic Party-CCF member George Hobbs of Revelstoke.

PERSONAL LOSS

He said of Mr. Murphy: "It is a great loss to me personally as leader of the Social Credit movement in B.C."

"Much of the success of our movement has resulted from his ability and the hard work he gave to present the Social Credit point of view in our province."

"The loss is a great one for our movement. He was a good citizen in every way. It is a great loss to the province as a whole.

"I offer my sympathy and condolences to his wife as well."

Mr. Murphy, 58, had been president of the league from 1953 until he retired because of ill health last December.

The office was taken over by George Hahn, former Surrey reeve who ran unsuccessfully in last May's Esquimalt-Saanich federal byelection.

Martin Raps 'Haphazard' Job Approach

OTTAWA (CP) — Liberal MP Paul Martin accused the government Wednesday of taking a "haphazard, laissez-faire" approach to the unemployment problem.

The member for Essex East said in the Commons that the government's winter works incentive program—under which the federal treasury pays half the payroll costs of approved municipal projects—fails to get at the root of unemployment.

Earlier, Labor Minister Starr had defended the winter work plan, saying "the results prove that it is a most useful method of tackling seasonal unemployment."

SOVIET BACKS WHEAT PACT

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union announced Wednesday it is ready to join the free world in an International Wheat Agreement.

Soviet delegate A. A. Pavlov told the United Nations wheat conference here that Russia decided to collaborate with the world's major producers and buyers after a thorough study of the current agreement.

Oh, the dryer doesn't take long. What's more wonderful is not having to carry this huge load of wash outdoors!

How soon will it all be dry, Mummy?

With an automatic dryer you can wash and dry clothes in any weather—and there's no lifting and hauling wet wash from indoor tub to outdoor line.

World's Biggest Water Bomber

BY DON INGHAM
Philippine Mars, a big flying boat which has been sitting off the beaten track at Victoria International Airport since 1959, is well on her way to full conversion as a water bomber—biggest in the world. Forest Industries Flying Tankers Ltd., which owns and all the forest lands for three of the giant Mars flying boats, hopes to see her flying by the end of March. A training program for flight crews will follow, and she will be ready for active service by the beginning of fire season May 1. FIFT is owned by four large logging and lumber companies.

OVERHAUL NEEDED

Conversion of the plane is being done by Fairley Aviation Ltd. Standing by in an advisory capacity is Dan McIvor, FIFT general manager, veteran pilot, and first-class water bomber.

The program necessitates building 7,000-gallon water tanks amidships with their necessary filling and jettison gear and controls, in conjunction with a complete overhaul of the aircraft. Estimated cost is $150,000.

New pilots this year are Bill Waddington, veteran of 14 years of flying on this coast with B.C. Air Lines, and Harry Brown, who had five years with the same company, and latterly was base manager at Campbell River.

ONLY SIX BUILT

Chief flight engineer is Nils Christensen, and other flight engineers are R. Hacker and Gerry White. Filling out the staff are ground engineers Jack Bath and Jim Hunter, the radio technician, George Stewart, and storekeeper Gil Kitchen. Hunter and Kitchen will remain at Patricia Bay to look after Caroline Mars and Hawaii Mars, which are sitting on the northeast corner of the airfield.

Looking to the future, Mr. McIvor can see no aircraft now operating which will be the equal of the Mars.

"By the time we have either rebuilt or disposed of our three there will be custom-built water bombers on the market," he said.

His pilots have complete faith in both the aircraft and the future of water bombing. Asked why he left a passenger service to become a water bomber, Bill Waddington said: "I believe in it. I saw the Marianas Mars work on a fire at Tahsis last year, and I know now what it can do."

"Me too," said his partner.

Royal Romance Denied

COPENHAGEN (AP)—King Frederik's private secretary denied Wednesday that there is a romance between Princess Margrethe, heiress to Denmark's 1,000-year-old royal throne, and British prince William of Gloucester. A report of a possible match between the two was carried by a London newspaper last Monday.

Cost of Credit Sought In Bill

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator David Cross introduced a revised bill in the Senate Wednesday which would compel persons engaged in the consumer credit business to spell out in detail the cost of such credit.

The bill, third of its kind placed before the upper house by the Ontario senator, is restricted to the field of consumer credit. It has no application to such arrangements as cash loans by banks and mortgages on real estate, as his previous bills did.

$2.5 Million Owed Canada By 10 Foreign Airlines

OTTAWA (UPI)—Ten foreign airlines have refused to pay the Canadian government some $2,500,000 for the privilege of flying non-stop over Canada, it was disclosed Wednesday.

The annual report of the auditor general said that the airlines had "declined to settle accounts" submitted by the federal transport department.

The report said the $64 "route facility fee" for trans-Atlantic and polar flights was needed to maintain the facilities in Canada necessary for the operation and safety of these flights. When these planes land at a Canadian airport the fee is not included in regular landing fees.

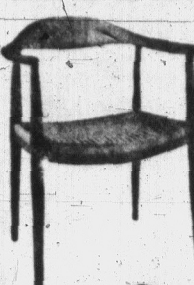

Some airlines had even refused to pay landing fees, the report added.

By March 31, the 10 airlines involved owed the government $1,284,000 in fees and the total has been increasing by some $100,000 monthly. The route facility fee was introduced when jet planes began to "over-fly" Canadian airports which were built to accommodate the increasing trans-Atlantic and polar traffic. The reduction in revenues fee was introduced to help meet the maintenance costs.

Sunday Bill Law Easing Proposed

DR. N. Z. ALCOCK, man with mission.

SEEKS FUNDS Peace Group Founder Here Friday

A man with a mission that may have world-wide repercussions is scheduled to arrive in Victoria Friday to address a public meeting on behalf of the Canadian Peace Research Institute.

He is the originator of the idea behind the federally chartered institute—Dr. Norman Z. Alcock, one of Canada's most brilliant scientists.

The Peace Research Institute which plans to put scientists to work full time on the problem of eliminating the possibility of nuclear war, will be discussed fully by Dr. Alcock at a free admission meeting at S. J. Willis Junior High School, starting at 8 p.m., Friday.

DISTINGUISHED GUESTS

With him on the platform will be Rev. William Hills as chairman, Hon. R. W. Mayhew, honorary chairman of the Victoria committee, and Dr. Arthur L. Kobler, of Seattle.

Dr. Kobler, a clinical psychologist, is a member of the University of Washington Graduate School Research Group on Peace and Conflict Resolution.

Edmonton-born Norman Alcock, 43, believes that modern science, which provided the means of massive ruin in war, can also be harnessed to map the way to a rational peace.

A campaign to raise $4,000, for the institute—half from the people of Canada and half from the federal government—is to begin this month.

Directed mass research is never fruitless in other fields, Dr. Alcock says, and he is sure "social pericillins will be discovered" in a crash program for peace.

Peace Research Institutes "might just discover the social and political inventions needed for a warless world."

Local campaign to raise the Victoria objective of $50,000 will commence next week. Chairman of the residential canvass section is Dr. Harvey Richardson, 4497 Arsen Place, and the local treasurer is B. W. Fairweather, 5050 Lockhaven Drive.

Closers at 5 p.m., Monday, February 19th, 1962, at the Canada Permanent Toronto General Trust Co. Office, 1125 Douglas St., Victoria, B.C.

CLIVE D. CAMPBELL, Architect, 145 Yates Street, Victoria, B.C.

TORONTO (CP) — The Lord's Day Alliance, in a brief to Prime Minister Diefenbaker, has called for a sweeping modernization of the Lord's Day Act.

The brief, presented to the prime minister last Friday and made public Wednesday, proposes:

1. The amount of advertising by broadcasting be regulated in fairness to "other media of advertising which may not engage in Sunday business."
2. That "Dominion law" take cognizance of the volume of public opinion in favor of Sunday sport and entertainment and make provision for it.
3. That consideration be given to the development of long-distance trucking "and also to automation in manufacturing, vending, etc., which is being accelerated in these times."

NEW APPROACH NEEDED

The need for "fresh attention to Sunday law" becomes apparent, the brief says, "when note is made of the fact that the Lord's Day Act deals with such minor matters as hiring a small boat or a horse and carriage, but has nothing to say about airplanes, or trucks, or radio, and television broadcasting."

The alliance proposed that since newspapers and magazines may not publish on Sunday and yet may be read on that day, that "window displays generally remain open to the public view" and "signboards are not pulled down or covered," it would "seem that equality of treatment would require, not that Sunday advertising by broadcasting should be entirely prohibited, but that it should be in some measure restricted as to its nature and amount."

The brief suggests that permitted exceptions to the act's provisions might be broadened to include "activities having to do with sport and entertainment."

It should be a matter of record, however, that the Lord's Day Alliance is not setting its approval upon Sunday sports and entertainment which are provided principally for financial gain and which deprive many employees of their freedom from Sunday work.

Paquette Denies Charge

QUEBEC (CP) — Albin Paquette, former Union Nationale health minister, swore Wednesday he never had anything to do with the resignation of the late Most Rev. Joseph Charbonneau, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Montreal in 1950.

"I would have considered it an abominable outrage if anyone had asked me to intervene to dispossess Msgr. Charbonneau of his episcopal seat," Dr. Paquette declared in the Legislative Council, Quebec's upper house, where he has been a member since 1958.

Published reports have said Dr. Paquette and the then Labor Minister Antonio Barrette were sent to Rome during the 1949 Holy Year by the late premier Maurice Duplessis to put pressure on Pope Pius XII to obtain Msgr. Charbonneau's resignation.

The archbishop, installed in 1950, died in retirement in Victoria in 1959.

NEVER MENTIONED

Dr. Paquette, a physician, said the archbishop was a personal friend and when he went to Rome as Quebec's representative he saw Pope Pius twice. But "the name of Msgr. Charbonneau was never mentioned."

Dr. Paquette said his name had been mentioned "by at least three Montreal newspapers" in connection with the archbishop's resignation which has been a subject of controversy for 12 years.

Louis Daguerre's first noted photograph by the daguerrotype process on a silvered plate treated with iodine vapor was that of a street shoeshine stand in Paris in 1839.

DUTCH WILL RELEASE INDONESIA PRISONERS

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The United Nations announced today The Netherlands has agreed to release Indonesian prisoners taken in a naval engagement off disputed West New Guinea Jan. 15.

The announcement said the international committee of the Red Cross had agreed to send an official to Dutch-held West New Guinea to take the men back to Indonesia. Twenty-eight Indonesian soldiers and sailors were killed and 52 others captured when Dutch warships sank the Indonesian motor torpedo boat Matjan Tutul in the clash.

With today's announcement, the UN made public a recent letter from UN Acting Secretary General U Thant appealing to Dutch Premier Jan E. de Quay to release the prisoners "as a humanitarian gesture which might help in easing tensions all around."

COSTLY BLUNDERS

$62,000 Paid, Nothing Stored

OTTAWA (CP)—A 27-year-old corporal fired as an "administrative nuisance" was granted a life pension worth $27,000.

This was one of a number of irregularities disclosed by Auditor-General Maxwell Henderson in his report to Parliament covering the 1960-61 fiscal year.

Some others:

The defence production department paid $62,000 for storage space in which nothing was stored.

A high speed wind tunnel project begun in 1954 at an estimated cost of $3,750,000 is now likely to cost $9,000,000 and is still not complete.

Three RCAF aircraftmen opened the wrong valves and 167,000 gallons of aviation gasoline worth $44,600 drained away down a manhole.

A war veteran with an income of $33,000 a year was granted a $15,179 loan under the Veteran's Land Act "to consolidate his loan."

A $42,000,000 acreage payment to Prairie farmers, voted by Parliament "as a higher return for wheat used for human consumption in Canada," was paid to growers irrespective of whether their land was planted to wheat, oats or barley or was left in summer fallow.

An "airsick" 37-year-old pilot was granted a pension worth $69,000 after being retired "by reason of having become disabled."

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Patient Dies in Blaze At Essondale Hospital

(Compiled from CP)

NEW WESTMINSTER — A fire which caused the death of a patient and damaged an annex of the nearby provincial mental hospital at Essondale Wednesday night probably started in a trash can.

Firemen said today they are convinced it was an accidental blaze which led to the death of Stanley Pearce, 48, a patient at the hospital since 1949.

An autopsy will be held. Mr. Pearce is believed to have died from asphyxiation.

A total of 123 other male patients in the annex were evacuated by hospital staff in less than four minutes. Three men overcame by smoke were dragged through a wash-room window.

It was the first major fire at Essondale since 1955, when one fire did $200,000 damage to the men's occupational therapy building and another caused $50,000 damage in the administration building.

Firemen said the blaze apparently started in one of two trash cans in a clothing storage room. Three other rooms were badly damaged but fire doors prevented the flames from spreading.

LOVE GOES SOUR

NEW WESTMINSTER — A romance which blossomed from a loveless advertisement last August ended in a $1,500 fraud trial in police court Wednesday.

Vancouver janitor Richard R. Balfour is charged with defrauding Elfriede Leiber, 41-year-old hospital nurse who claimed Balfour accepted a $1,500 loan from her.

Then she found out he was already married.

The money was not returned, Miss Leiber said.

Balfour pleaded not guilty.

PRO-STAMP GROUP

VANCOUVER — Formation of a group to protest projected legislation which would prohibit use of gift trading stamps in British Columbia stores was announced Wednesday.

The "Independent Shoppers

League of British Columbia said it had been formed to combat an anti-stamp drive by other interests and has the support of some 150 food stores which the league said now are issuing stamps.

Nina Anthony, radio personality, was named executive director of the new body.

Court Quashes Bylaw On Building Spacing

A recent amendment to Victoria's high-rise zoning by-law—referring to minimum distances between buildings in the James Bay high-rise zone—has been quashed by Mr. Justice R. A. Wootton in Supreme Court here.

In a written judgment he granted the application of Victoria lawyer Mrs. Marney Stevenson, representing Andrew Dery, 651 Avalon, and Alfred Staples, 636 Toronto, for quashing of the amendment on four points.

The amendment referred to the regulation setting minimum distances between buildings in the James Bay high-rise zone. It called for the spacing regulation to apply to buildings of more than three storeys.

Mr. Justice Wootton questioned the city council's authority to determine the spacing of buildings by regulations other than those governing setbacks from property lines.

He said the bylaw gave no clear definition of how the spacing should be determined, and was "discriminatory" against buildings of three storeys or less.

In her application, Mrs. Stevenson charged that the amendment was unfair to owners of property adjoining high-rise apartment sites.

It was passed primarily to allow construction of the 12-storey high-rise apartment block now being built on Douglas Street facing Beacon Hill Park.

A city hall spokesman said today he thought it unlikely the judge's ruling would affect this construction.

Bowling Bettors 'Tapped'

MONTREAL (CP) — More than 70 men were arrested today in a mid-town bowling alley in what police believe is the first case of its kind in this city.

The men, to be charged with being found in a gaming house, are reported to have bought tickets in a pool based on the efforts of four bowlers.

Four vans were used to transport them to police headquarters.

In line with a new get-tough policy, the suspects were held without bail pending arraignment Friday. They were to be photographed and fingerprinted.

Youths Admit Killing Girl, 4

DETROIT (AP) — A four-year-old girl was found slain Wednesday night in the bedroom of her west side home. She had been stabbed at least seven times, police said.

Police said a 17-year-old cousin of the girl, Frank Ramirez, and his 16-year-old stepbrother were held for questioning.

The youths were arrested shortly after the victim, Naomi Bosch, was found by her mother.

Police said a first-degree murder warrant would be sought against Ramirez.

Inspector George Bloomfield said the youths admitted the slaying and plans to kill four other occupants of the Bosch home in what he described as a fantastic burglary plot.

U.S. Gov't Seeks To Use Wire-Taps

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy asked congress today to legalize wiretapping by federal and state police authorities as a weapon against organized crime and subversive activities.

He said present law, which bars wiretap evidence in any federal court and curbs its use in state courts, is "chaotic." It hampers law enforcement and fails to protect the right of privacy, Kennedy added.

Italy Lays Spy Charge Against Red Jet Pilot

MISS CAN'T KISS, SAYS CHAPERONE

VANCOUVER (CP) — "No, there will be no kisses," snapped a chaperon as Miss America and a debonair alderman swayed toward each other.

Alderman Frank Baker had offered to lightly buss Maria Beale Fletcher of Asheville, N.C., on the cheek after she stepped off a plane.

After chaperon Angela Petesch snapped her rejection of the idea, Mr. Baker and Miss America swayed for an embarrassed couple of seconds, then laughed and shook hands.

"Really disappointing," said the gay alderman later. "But I have been refused by pretty girls before."

"It was slightly embarrassing," said Maria, a hazel-eyed brunette.

"Kissing strangers is not becoming for our Miss America," said grey-haired Miss Petesch. "It's downright undignified."

Maria, five feet five inches with a 35-24-35 figure, is here for a two-day fashion show. Mr. Baker was the official greeter.

BARI, Italy—Italian police tonight formally charged a young Bulgarian pilot with spying and said he would stand trial for espionage.

Bari district attorney Carlo Giancaspro formally notified the pilot, 22-year-old 2nd Lt. Miluse Solakov, that he had ordered him arrested and filed the charges against him.

Solakov is recovering in the Bari jail infirmary from the injuries he suffered when his MIG 17 jet fighter crashed Jan. 20 only 600 yards from a secret NATO missile base south of this Italian town.

Solakov tried to give the impression that he was a defector but his government contended he landed in Italy after becoming lost in bad weather while on a training flight over Bulgaria.

SOLAKOV

HIT TREES

One unconfirmed report said bits of olive tree branches were found in the wreckage of the jet's engines, indicating the pilot dropped too low during a reconnaissance pass.

No date has been set for the trial, which is expected to be held in the local court. It will be a civil trial as Italian law does not provide for a military trial for espionage in peacetime.

It was believed that the trial would be held some time during the first half of March.

The official notification was handed to Solakov by Police Capt. Mario Glansante. Prison sources who were present said that Solakov was unmoved. They added that he had been expecting the decision to try him as a spy.

Solakov could be sentenced to 15 years if found guilty.

Earlier, Italian government sources in Rome had ruled out any diplomatic negotiations about Solakov's fate. They said it was entirely a matter for Italian courts.

How About Pay Phones On Sunday?

CALGARY (CP) — If he can't run his coin-operated laundry on Sundays, Calgary's Dave Ho Lem suggests pay telephones are illegal, too.

Mr. Ho Lem's Carousel Cleaners Limited has been charged with violating the Lord's Day Act in the latest round of a controversy over Sunday operations.

"If it is illegal for Calgarians to use coin-operated cleaning machines on Sunday, it is equally illegal to use pay telephones," he said today.

"We would like the issue to die a quiet death, but if we are prosecuted the natural reaction would be to charge other Sunday cleaning operators of juke boxes and other vending machines including cigarette machines and stamp machines."

'Spy Tunnel' Under Wall Charged by E. Germany

50-BELOW, NO POWER

STE. AGATHE, Que. (CP) — Some 5,000 people in this Laurentian resort area 50 miles northwest of Montreal were without electric power for an hour and 15 minutes today while temperatures were about 50 degrees below zero.

BERLIN (UPI) — East Germany today charged the west with building a tunnel under their anti-refugee wall from West to East Berlin.

Communist officials took newsmen to the Wollankstrasse railway station on the border of the French sector and showed them burrows alleged to be part of a "spy tunnel" system.

In protest to the French and the West Berlin city government, East Germany demanded punishment of the West Berlin "bandits" responsible for the tunnel.

Communist Deputy Foreign Minister Otto Winzer made a sharp protest to French commandant Gen. Jean Lacomme. His note said the tunnel was an "injury to the territorial integrity of the German democratic republic and against the search for a solution of international incidents."

The secret passages the communists displayed today had no connection with a 90-foot tunnel through which 28 East Germans escaped to West Berlin last week. Its location was several miles from Wollankstrasse.

The communists said the tunnel was built to smuggle spies into the eastern zone. Observers said, however, if such a tunnel was built it was apparently intended to help East Germans flee to the west.

The West Berlin city government declined to comment on the communist charge. But a city statement said West Berliners—"under the most difficult circumstances"—were trying to help eastern residents escape.

It was not possible to determine the validity of the communist charge. Newsmen saw holes dug out of walls in what appeared to be an unused passage in the station at ground level.

They saw holes also dug into the ground in the passage and a section of collapsed station platform. Railway officials told newsmen it was an amateur job.

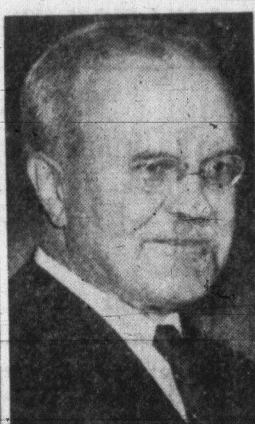

But it could not be determined whether a tunnel actually existed or, if it did exist, where it led.

YOUTH HELD FOR MURDER OF FATHER

HOPE (CP) — Gerald Roy Emery, 18, was charged with capital murder today for the axe-slaying of his father.

Police said they believe the slaying of Francis George Emery, 51, followed a family argument in the home of Chief Peter Emery, father of the victim, Wednesday night.

Emery was arrested within minutes after police arrived on the scene.

MOLOTOV

Former Top Red In Hospital

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Vyacheslav Molotov, 71-year-old former foreign minister who is in disgrace with the Soviet Communist party, has been in hospital for 10 days with a heart ailment, a reliable source said today.

The source said Molotov was in the Kremlin hospital opposite the old bolshevik's apartment in a government-owned building in the centre of the city.

There was no immediate confirmation of the report from official Soviet sources.

When questioned about Molotov's reported illness, an official of the Soviet press department replied: "We cannot keep track of everybody who goes to the hospital. If a person is ill it is his own business. It is of no importance to us."

He gave the standard reply when asked if Molotov was likely to return to his old position as Soviet representative to the International Atomic Energy Agency in Vienna: "We have no information about that."

Recent rumors in Moscow had said Molotov was among the thousands of Russians laid low by the flu epidemic that struck such notables as Premier Khrushchev.

Six Moslems Killed On 'Day of Murder'

ORAN (Reuters) — Six Moslem insurgents were reported killed in a four-hour battle with French troops today at the outset of the most critical month in President Charles de Gaulle's long efforts to bring peace to Algeria.

Official sources said insurgent leaders have been planning a day of murder today in Oran, a hotbed of European extremist and rebel activity.

French troops attacked an insurgent headquarters in Oran with mortars and bazookas, the sources said, and after four hours of fighting, six bodies and a number of documents were found in the ruins.

Meantime, an unknown assailant cut the throat of an Algerian in a Moslem housing district at the Algiers suburb of El Biar.

U.S., BRITAIN 'VINDICTIVE'

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Indian newspapers today criticized the United States and Britain for supporting Pakistan's request for a United Nations Security Council debate on Kashmir.

The Indian Express accuses the United States and Britain of "vindictiveness" in supporting the Pakistani request.

PRINCIPAL CRACKS DOWN ON TOUGHS

Students Stage Walkout

PENDER HARBOR, B.C. (CP) — A school principal today blamed lack of parental control and violent television programs for an incident that led to a strike of 41 high school students.

Roth Gordon said in an interview three students were "terrorizing" a younger student at the junior-senior high school at this community, 40 miles north of Vancouver, with belts and a knife. They did not hurt the younger boy.

"Too much of this TV stuff," he said, adding that there was lack of parental control.

"When parents don't back up the teachers there will be trouble."

He said the incident occurred during lunch hour Wednesday. The three students were isolated from each other and other students. One was strapped because he refused to eat lunch alone.

Forty-one of the 150 students did not return to school in the afternoon. One, who asked that his name not be used, said the students objected to the fact that the 17-year-old was strapped even though he said he was going to quit school.

Mr. Gordon said the strapped student and the strikers returned to school today.

He said no school law was violated and the school trustees supported his action.

Anti-Salazar Rioters Crushed

Oporto (AP) — Police used fire hoses and fired into the air to break up an anti-government demonstration in this Portuguese city Wednesday night.

Between 18 and 20 persons were reported injured, none seriously. Authorities blamed the demonstration on Communist agents and said arrests were made.

The demonstrators apparently massed in response to pamphlets distributed during the last several days by opponents of Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar. The demonstration coincided with the anniversary of the 1890 republican revolution in Oporto, Portugal's second city and the home of port wines.

Russian Troops Reported in Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (Reuters) — The right-wing government of Laos said here Wednesday night it had received reports that two companies of Russian troops were in the kingdom, just south of the border with Communist China. A government communique said the Russians were reported 25 miles east of Muong Sing, a town in the extreme northeast of Laos.

Diplomatic and military sources here said they had no knowledge of the presence of Russian troops but that Russian technicians were believed to be with left-wing Laotian forces further south on the Plain of Jars.

Centennial Flashback...

THIS DAY IN VICTORIA - 1862

FEBRUARY 1

Much to the relief of a somewhat embarrassed Royal Navy, the gunboat Forward was floated off the mudbank on which she was stuck backward. A high tide did the trick.

The two Indians found sleeping amid empty champagne bottles pleaded guilty to theft of spirits and were sentenced to three months each on the chain gang. The arresting officer accepted a $50 reward from the proprietors of the burgled liquor store.

Volunteer firemen were awakened by the ringing of the alarm bell at 1 a.m., and laboriously hauled their engines and truck through the deep snow to Store Street, where it was learned the alarm was false. By this time the whole town was awake, and the firemen had help hauling their equipment back.

The false alarm was rung by Special Officer Levy, who saw a bright light. The origin of the light has not been established.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa—An unemployed wait-stead of a big wheel" today sought nomination as stead of a big wheel" today sought nomination as governor of Iowa.

Mrs. Betty B. Dykhuizen, 40, told the secretary of state's office that "this is no gag" and insisted: "Send me nomination papers for governor of the corn-hog state of Iowa."

Secretary of State Melvin-Synhorst said the papers would be sent.

Mrs. Dykhuizen, a divorcee, said she considered herself an independent but would campaign on the Democratic ticket.

"Nothing is being done for the little people," Mrs.
Dykhuizen said. "I think all those big wheels need a little cog to help them out."

Asked for her qualifications to be governor, she said she felt she could do "as good a job as that fellow we have now," a reference to Republican Gov. Norman A. Erbe, who is seeking re-election.

LONDON—A British newspaper today blisters Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery for mixing in politics and told him bluntly: "Belt up, Monty!"

That is an English colloquialism, a variation of "shut up."

What nettled the tabloid was something the old warrior said in South Africa this week. It was this:

"If the black people north of this country unite, find a leader and threaten the whites of South Africa, then I shall draw my sword and come and help you myself."

The Mirror in an editorial calls the statement idiotic and advised the retired wartime military leader to stay retired and leave politics to politicians.

"This garrulous old age pensioner," says The Mirror, "is still meddling in international affairs, still saying the wrong thing in the wrong place at the wrong time."

"It is said that old soldiers never die. Why won't this one just belt up?"

KITCHENER— "Really clever American youths go into business and become vice-presidents or corporation lawyers," Prof. C. Northcote Parkinson said Wednesday night.

"Stupid ones go into the civil service. The real idiots go into the army and they all become generals. The best example of that occurred not long ago when one became president."

DETROIT—Herman Wallenda and his son Gunther performed Wednesday night on the same high wire from which two aerialists of the Great Wallendas' troupe fell to their death Tuesday night.

The 60-year-old Herman and his 34-year-old son teamed up with aerialist Jean Mendez, who was flown in Wednesday to fill the Shrine Circus gap left by the tragedy that befell the Wal-lendas.

Gunther rode a bike across the wire and teamed up with Mendez to carry Herman standing on a cross bar between them. In the finale, Herman stood on his head on the bar.

A crowd of approximately 5,000 gave the trio a howling ovation.

OTTAWA—The tariff board, obviously not in tune with those TV commercials, has ruled that something is missing from instant coffee.

The ruling has been handed down in a test case brought by Canadian Nescafe Company which sought to increase the tariff rate on imported instant coffee to 22 1/2 per cent from seven.

The board went into detail on how instant coffee is made and commented:

"It therefore appears that instant coffee is '100 per cent pure coffee' only in the sense that it contains nothing that does not come from the roasted and ground coffee bean.

"It is not '100 per cent pure coffee' in the sense that it contains everything that was in the roasted and ground coffee bean."

This meant that instant coffee was not liable to the 22 1/2 per cent duty.

It comes under the category "extracts of coffee" which calls for a seven-per-cent tariff.

UN Opens Talks
On Kashmir Issue

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—
The United Nations Security Council was called into session today to hear Pakistan's charges of assault threats by India over Kashmir.

Pakistani Ambassador Sir Muhammad Zafrulla Khan, in asking for the meeting, said Indian army movements and Indian threats regarding disputed Kashmir have created "a very grave situation."

The two Commonwealth countries have clashed periodically at the UN since 1948 over Kashmir, divided between them on the basis of a cease-fire line established in 1949.

Zafrulla Khan denied at a press conference that Pakistan launched its move now to embarrass the Indian government in general elections later this month.

He referred to a reported

'PLAYING POLITICS'
MP CHARGES LESAGE

BY JACK BEST

OTTAWA (CP)—Premier
Jean Lesage of Quebec was accused of "playing politics" Wednesday of playing politics by his negative response to the idea of an Ottawa-sponsored national power grid.

"This response, I suggest, is a political one and is not the response of sensible people in that province," said Hugh M.
Hornor, member for the Alberta constituency of Jasper-Edson.

He was referring to the premier's reply to a letter from Prime Minister Diefenbaker suggesting a Dominion-provincial conference to consider "fundamental problems" bearing on the transmission of hydro power in Canada.

PETERS
... not response of sensible people

Hydro. replied Mr. Lesage,
"is a field of provincial jurisdiction and I consider that is where we must let the matter rest."

Debate was on a motion by Arnold Peters (CCF—Timiska-ming), asking government consideration of the advisability of setting up a national grid, initiating research and calling a federal-provincial conference.

Mr. Peters said he had filed his motion before the Jan. 18 opening of Parliament. In the speech from the Throne the government referred to "steps that might be taken" toward long-distance power transmission.

The CCF's private motion was talked out, and will not likely come up again this session.

U.S. MISSILE DEFENCE FORCE HIT

'Bugs' Show in Atlas

WASHINGTON (AP)—The rocket troubles which caused postponement of astronaut
John Glenn's shot into orbit may curtail the readiness of the United States intercontinental ballistic missile force, the Washington Post says.

The Post says "it learned from Pentagon sources that "bugs" identical to those encountered at Cape Canaveral have shown up in 5,000-mile Atlas D missiles now on United States launching pads.

While a satisfactory solution has been found, The Post says, defence officials decided not to dismantle the rockets for factory modification.

Four-fifths of the country's operation ICBMs are involved.
The Post says, and defence officials have been reluctant to take that many missiles off the launching pads. Instead, the necessary change has been made when the Atlases must be removed from their pads for other reasons.

But the trouble encountered in the astronaut and Ranger 3 moon shot has led the air force to reconsider this decision.

The trouble is in the fuel tanks of the radio-guided missiles, but Atlas experts have said they can maintain satisfactory reliability for defence by daily inspections and extra precautions against over-pres-surizing fuel tanks, The Post says.

The trouble results from vaporized kerosene which becomes trapped in an insulated double bulkhead separating the fuel and liquid oxygen compartment, The Post says.
When cooked the kerosene turns back to liquid and can flood into the Atlas electrical system, causing short circuits.

FIRM ACCUSES RIVAL OF LURING EMPLOYEES

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A Rochester, N.Y. publishing firm has sued a publishing company here for $6,000,000, charging the rival firm lured away its top executives.

The Bancroft-Whitney Company, which specializes in legal publications, filed the action in superior court Wednesday against Matthew Bender and Company of San Francisco.

Bancroft accused Matthew Bender of hiring away its president, three other top executives and 13 key employees to obtain trade secrets. They all resigned Dec. 15 without notice, the action alleged.

'THOMSON IN REVERSE'

U.K. Group Buys B.C. Newspapers

LONDON (CP)—A British financial observer found it difficult today to hide his satisfaction over the news that the Liverpool Daily Post and Echo Limited had bought three British Columbia newspapers.

"A Thomson in reverse," says Observer, a Financial Times columnist.

By buying The Fraser Valley Record, the Chilliwack Progress and the Abbotsford, Sumas and Matsqui News, the group is buying three of the province's seven newspapers.

The Chilliwack paper is a bi-weekly and the other two are weeklies. "In these days of newspapers disappearing into growth empires, it is a pleasant change to find a happily expanding independent," says The Financial Times writer in his "men and matters" column.

The reference to "Thomson in reverse" was an allusion to Canadian publisher Roy Thomson, who has become one of the British newspaper tycoons as a result of his acquisitions in less than a decade of operations in Britain.

The three newspapers purchased by the Liverpool Daily Post are published in Mission, Chilliwack and Abbotsford, all Fraser-Valley centres east of Vancouver.

Cecil Hacker, Abbotsford publisher since 1949, will be president and general manager of all three papers.

Financial terms involved in the deal were not announced. Mr. Hacker said the policy will be to continue each of the three newspapers as a separate hometown paper "serving its own community in its own way."

Long-Sands, Fraser Valley Record publisher, has agreed to remain as editor-manager of that paper for an extended period, Mr. Hacker said.

The Post now has two newspapers in Ontario, one in Saskatchewan and one in Alberta. The Red Deer Advocate has been converted from a twice-weekly to a daily publication. A. G. Jeans, managing director of the Liverpool Daily

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP)—The United States has been quietly informed there would be deep concern in Canada if the U.S. suddenly were to dump aluminum, nickel and other stockpiled strategic materials on world markets.

Informants said Wednesday this Canadian view was conveyed to U.S. authorities during an informal discussion of growing U.S. concern over the burden of maintaining a stockpile in excess of what U.S. military forces may require in an emergency.

President Kennedy told a press conference Wednesday he was astonished by the size of the stockpile particularly in aluminum and nickel, and said the issue is being placed under review by a special government commission and a congressional subcommittee.

AWARE OF IMPACT

However, Canadian authorities were heartened by the president's further statement that he is well aware of the impact that the dumping of the stockpile would have on world markets. Kennedy pledged he would take no action that would disrupt commodity prices.

Kennedy estimated the stockpile value at $7,700,000,000 but officials said later this was the value at current market prices.

The actual cost of acquisition was about $8,500,000,000. Among 76 items ranging from tin to opium there are substantial quantities of aluminum and nickel purchased from Canadian producers.

Canadian authorities are convinced that Canada and other countries would be consulted by the Kennedy administration before it took any major action to offer large quantities for disposal.

Dried Foods Urged

OTTAWA (CP)—A meeting of Canada's top firefighters Wednesday recommended that the government investigate the possibility of making dehydrated meats and vegetables regulation diet for men on the fireline.

ADDRESSING a meeting of the Victoria branch of the World Federalists of Canada on Saturday is national president Dr. William M. Sheehan of Montreal. Aim of the Federalists is to assure world peace through the reconstitution of the United Nations to legally enforce world-wide total disarmament. Meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the St. John Ambulance Hall, Pandora Ave., and will be chaired by Dr. Hugh Keenleyside.

PM Skeptical On Tariffs

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker was reported to have expressed doubt on Wednesday that President Kennedy's tariff-cutting program can clear the United States Congress.

Members of a 75-man farm delegation said he took the view that he would be surprised if the Kennedy proposals—designed to reduce tariff barriers multilaterally in reaction to the European Common Market influence—got congressional approval.

U.K. Wants ECM Answer Before End of Summer

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain has told leaders in European Common Market countries it would like to know by July or August whether it will be accepted in the trading bloc, authoritative sources said here today.

The British government's timetable, it was stated, calls for Brussels negotiations between Britain and the six market countries to reach a point this summer showing that Britain's entry will be certain.

Then there could be no drawing back, even though the detailed negotiations would continue for many months more.

This would enable Prime Minister Macmillan to tell Parliament before its summer recess where the country stands.

The government could go ahead and prepare domestic legislation on Common Market entry for the parliamentary session, starting in November.

It is believed here there will be a Commonwealth prime ministers' conference after the issues now being discussed in Brussels have become clearer. Britain is committed not to take irrevocable steps without fully consulting the Commonwealth.

The British are reported to have proposed the timetable in recent talks with leaders of Common Market countries, including Dr. Konrad Adenauer, West German chancellor.

DOWNTOWN PARKING SITES

Expropriation City's Next Move

The City Hall appears headed for expropriation proceedings to obtain two sites for downtown parking garages.

The likelihood of the last resort action arose today on the heels of a cancelled special council meeting which was to have received a report on negotiations for the undisclosed properties.

The properties never have been identified but are known to be on View Street, between Blanshard and Douglas, and adjoining Bastion Square.

MATTER OF PRICE

Negotiations bogged down, principally over price, between the city's parking commission and the property holders, forcing cancellation of the Wednesday afternoon council meeting.

It is expected the parking commission will make a formal recommendation to the city council early next week.

If no agreement between the parties is reached by then, the only procedure left for the city to acquire the sites is expropriation, in which the price would be arbitrated.

Mayor R. B. Wilson, after a parking commission session, said he hoped "before too long we will have something concrete" to report.

"We had a good discussion and got a lot of information but we reached no conclusions."

The general area of the sites was approved in a $1,115,000 bylaw passed by downtown ratepayers last year for the development of two off-street garages providing a total of 600 car spaces.

ITALY ACTS

Red Jet Pilot
Charged as Spy

(Times News Services)

BARI, Italy—Italian police tonight formally charged a young Bulgarian pilot with spying and said he would stand trial for espionage.

Bari district attorney Carlo Giancaspro formally notified the pilot, 22-year-old 2nd Lt. Miluse Solakov, that he had ordered him arrested and filed the charges against him. Solakov is recovering in the Bari jail infirmary from the injuries he suffered when his MIG 17 jet fighter crashed Jan. 20 only 600 yards from a secret NATO missile base south of this Italian town. Solakov tried to give the impression that he was a defector but his government contended he landed in Italy after becoming lost in bad weather while on a training flight over Bulgaria.

The investigating judge acted soon after Italian police turned over to him their full findings in the case, presumably including results of a study of film taken from the Bulgarian plane's cameras.

HIT TREES

One unconfirmed report said bits of olive tree branches were found in the wreckage of the jet's engines, indicating the pilot dropped too low during a reconnaissance pass. No date has been set for the trial, which is expected to be held in the local court. It will be a civil trial as Italian law does not provide for a military trial for espionage in peacetime.

It was believed that the trial would be held some time during the first half of March.

The official notification was handed to Solakov by Police Capt. Mario Giansante. Prison sources who were present said that Solakov was unmoved. They added that he had been expecting the decision to try him as a spy.

Solakov could be sentenced to 15 years if found guilty. Earlier, Italian government sources in Rome had ruled out any diplomatic negotiations about Solakov's fate. They said it was entirely a matter for Italian courts.

VIENTIANE, Laos (Reuported 25 miles east of Muong Sing, a town in the extreme northeast of Laos.

PRINCIPAL CRACKS DOWN ON TOUGHS

Students Stage Walkout

PENDER HARBOR, B.C. (CP)—A school principal today blamed lack of parental control and violent television programs for an incident that led to a strike of 41 high school students.

Roth Gordon said in an interview three students were "terrorizing" a younger student at the junior-senior high school at this community, 40 miles north of Vancouver, with belts and a knife. They did not hurt the younger boy.

"Too much of this TV stuff," he said, adding that there was lack of parental control. "When parents don't back up the teachers there will be trouble."

He said the incident occurred during lunch hour Wednesday. The three students were isolated from each other and

MANY DEATHS

Fog Bank Drapes
California

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—Treacherous fog, blamed for at least 28 deaths since Sunday, including 11 victims in a bus-train collision, has created a crisis in central California.

With visibility zero at times in many of the area's major cities, dozens of schools were closed and motorists were advised to keep off the highways. Air flights out of here were cancelled.

The fog layer is 300 miles long, 50 miles wide and 1,500 feet deep.

The weather bureau said the fog would persist in the San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys at least until Friday.

Oldtimers term the fog the worst they've seen in years. Weather experts said it's caused by vaporizing moisture rising from the area's lush agricultural fields. The moisture is the result of a rare snowfall in the central valley last week.

In the worst accident, 10 farm laborers lost their lives Wednesday night at a railway crossing in Mendota, about 50 miles west of Fresno. The other laborer in the truck died of his injuries several hours later.

"They never had a chance—the bus driver apparently never saw the train," said Mendota police officer Marvin France. He estimated visibility then at 100 feet.

The fog was so thick near Modesto a motorist needed help in finding his way. He got out of his auto to flag down a truck. It crushed him to death against his car.

Youths Admit Killing
Girl, 4

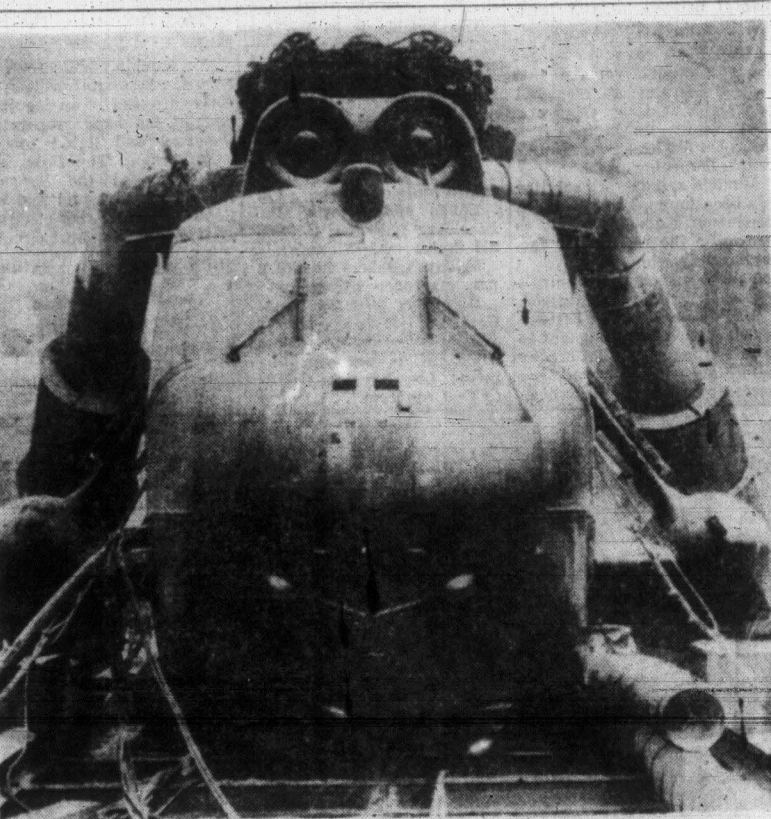

DETROIT (AP)—A four-year-old girl was found slain Wednesday night in the bedroom of her west side home. She had been stabbed at least seven times, police said.

Police said a 17-year-old cousin of the girl, Frank Ramirez, and his 16-year-old stepbrother were held for questioning.

The youths were arrested shortly after the victim, Naomi Bosch, was found by her mother.

Police said a first-degree murder warrant would be sought against Ramirez.

Inspector George Bloomfield said the youths admitted the slaying and plans to kill four other occupants of the Bosch home in what he described as a fantastic burglary plot.

'Spy Tunnel' Under Wall
Charged by E. Germany

BERLIN (UPI)—East Germany today charged the west with building a tunnel under their anti-refugee wall from West to East Berlin.

Communist officials took newsmen to the Wollankstrasse railway station on the border of the French sector and showed them burrows alleged to be part of a "spy tunnel system."

In protest to the French and the West Berlin city government, East Germany demanded punishment of the West Berlin "bandits" responsible for the tunnel.

Communist Deputy Foreign Minister Otto Winzer made a sharp protest to French commandant Gen. Jean Lacomme. His note said the tunnel was an "injury to the territorial integrity of the German democratic republic and against the search for a solution of international incidents."

The secret passages the communists displayed today had no connection with a 90-foot tunnel through which 28 East Germans escaped to West Berlin last week. Its location was several miles from Wollankstrasse.

The communists said the tunnel was built to smuggle spies into the eastern zone. Observers said, however, if such a tunnel was built it was apparently intended to help East Germans flee to the west.

The West Berlin city government declined to comment on the communist charge. But a city statement said West Berliners—"under the most difficult circumstances"—were trying to help eastern residents escape.

It was not possible to determine the validity of the communist charge. Newsmen saw holes dug out of walls in what appeared to be an unused passage in the station at ground level.

They saw holes also dug into the ground in the passage and a section of collapsed station platform. Railway officials told newsmen it was an amateur job.

U.S. Gov't Seeks To Use Wire-Taps

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Attorney-General Robert Kennedy asked congress today to legalize wiretapping by federal and state police authorities as a weapon against organized crime and subversive activities.

He said present law, which bars wiretap evidence in any federal court and curbs its use in state courts, is "chaotic." It hampers law enforcement and fails to protect the right of privacy, Kennedy added.

MISS CAN'T KISS, SAYS CHAPERONE

VANCOUVER (CP)—"No, there will be no kisses," snapped a chaperon as Miss America and a debonair alderman swayed toward each other.

Alderman Frank Baker had offered to lightly buss Maria Beale Fletcher of Asheville, N.C., on the cheek after she stepped off a plane.

After chaperon Angela Petesch snapped her rejection of the idea, Mr. Baker and Miss America swayed for an embarrassed couple of seconds, then laughed and shook hands.

"Really disappointing," said the Bay alderman later. "But I have been refused by pretty girls before."

"It was slightly embarrassing," said Maria, a hazel-eyed brunette.

"Kissing strangers is not becoming for our Miss America," said grey-haired Miss Petesch. "It's downright undignified."

Will Permit
Bargaining

Employees of B.C.'s new overall hydro authority—a merger of B.C. Electric and the Power Commission—will have full union bargaining rights, but will not be allowed to strike.

Labor Minister Leslie Peterson announced these government intentions in the legislature this afternoon.

He said that regular conciliation procedure will be followed for employees of the new B.C. Hydro and power authority.

But the report of a conciliation board will be "final and binding in every respect."

DISCUSSIONS HELD

Mr. Peterson said the new plan was decided after discussions with the joint council of B.C. Electric employees.

He said the council endorsed it.

Mr. Peterson said the plan would put electric utility employees on the same status as police and firemen.

Legislation establishing the hydro authority will come later in the session, after the budget, and it is expected that it will lay out the labor relations procedures.

Mr. Peterson said the government agreed that its employees should have these rights:

The right to join a trade union of their choice;

Trade unions should be certified as bargaining agents;

The new agency should be required to recognize and bargain with these unions;

The agency must enter into collective agreements with the unions.

However, the government will not allow an electrical utility strike to cripple the province, said Mr. Peterson.

Therefore it will prohibit any strike or lockout in the new agency.

"We recognize that strikes and lockouts are legitimate weapons in private business," he said. "However, employees of crown agencies serve the public welfare and not a private purpose."

VALUABLE SERVICE

"The employees of this utility are essential to the proper functioning of the crown agency in supplying uninterrupted electric service to communities—a service which is so necessary to the public health, safety and welfare."

He added: "Without the maintenance of electrical power the wealth, safety and welfare of our people would be endangered and the economy of our province would be crippled and eventually brought to an almost complete standstill."

He said such a "perilous situation" was "unthinkable."

Bowling
Bettors
'Tapped'

MONTREAL (CP)—More than 70 men were arrested today in a mid-town bowling alley in what police believe is the first case of its kind in this city.

The men, to be charged with being found in a gaming house, are reported to have bought tickets in a pool based on the efforts of four bowlers.

Four vans were used to transport them to police headquarters.

In line with a new get-tough policy, the suspects were held without bail pending arraignment Friday. They were to be photographed and fingerprinted.

How About Pay Phones
On Sunday?

CALGARY (CP)—If he can't run his coin-operated laundry on Sundays, Calgary's Dave Ho Lem suggests pay telephones are illegal, too.

Mr. Ho Lem's Carousel Cleaners Limited has been charged with violating the Lord's Day Act in the latest round of a controversy over Sunday operations.

"If it is illegal for Calgaryans to use coin-operated cleaning machines on Sunday, it is equally illegal to use pay telephones," he said today.

"We would like the issue to die a quiet death, but if we are prosecuted the natural reaction would be to charge other Sunday operators of juke boxes and other vending machines including cigarette machines and stamp machines."

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Three bombs were thrown at the Soviet trade mission building early today. The front of the building was damaged but Russian officials living inside escaped injury.

U.S., BRITAIN 'VINDICTIVE'

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Indian newspapers today criticized the United States and Britain for supporting Pakistan's request for a United Nations Security Council debate on Kashmir. The Indian Express accuses the United States and Britain of "vindictiveness" in supporting the Pakistani request.

Why put up with acid indigestion?

You don't have to... not with TUMS around! When stomach upset threatens... just take a couple. Right away you'll feel fast relief from heartburn and the discomforts of acid indigestion. No water needed... and there's never any after-taste!

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Vyacheslav Molotov, 71-year-old former foreign minister who is in disgrace with the Soviet Communist party, has been in hospital for 10 days with a heart ailment, a reliable source said today.

The source said Molotov was in the Kremlin hospital opposite the old bolshevik's apartment building in the centre of the city.

There was no immediate confirmation of the report from official Soviet sources.

When questioned about Molotov's reported illness, an official of the Soviet press department replied: "We cannot keep track of everybody who goes to the hospital. If a person is ill it is his own business. It is of no importance to us."

STANDARD REPLY

He gave the standard reply when asked if Molotov was likely to return to his old position as Soviet representative to the International Atomic Energy Agency in Vienna: "We have no information about that."

Recent rumors in Moscow had said Molotov was among the thousands of Russians laid low by the flu epidemic that struck such notables as Premier Khrushchev.

Centennial Flashback...

THIS DAY IN VICTORIA - 1862

FEBRUARY 1

Much to the relief of a somewhat embarrassed Royal Navy, the gunboat Forward was floated off the mudbank on which she was stuck backward. A high tide did the trick.

The two Indians found sleeping amid empty champagne bottles pleaded guilty to theft of spirits and were sentenced to three months each on the chain gang. The arresting officer accepted a $50 reward from the proprietors of the burgled liquor store.

Volunteer firemen were awakened by the ringing of the alarm bell at 1 a.m., and laboriously hauled their engines and truck through the deep snow to Store Street, where it was learned the alarm was false. By this time the whole town was awake, and the firemen had help hauling their equipment back.

The false alarm was rung by Special Officer Levy, who saw a bright light. The origin of the light has not been established.

Anti-Salazar Rioters Crushed

Oporto (AP)—Police used fire hoses and fired into the air to break up an anti-government demonstration in this Portuguese city Wednesday night.

Between 18 and 20 persons were reported injured, none seriously. Authorities blamed the demonstration on Communist agents and said arrests were made.

Six Moslems Killed On 'Day of Murder'

ORAN (Reuters)—Six Moslem insurgents were reported killed in a four-hour battle with French troops today at the outset of the most critical month in President Charles de Gaulle's long efforts to bring peace to Algeria.

YOUTH HELD FOR MURDER OF FATHER

HOPE (CP)—Gerald Roy Emery, 18, was charged with capital murder today for the axe-slaying of his father.

Police said they believe the slaying of Francis George Emery, 51, followed a family argument in the home of Chief Peter Emery, father of the victim, Wednesday night.

Emery was arrested within minutes after police arrived on the scene.
